BOARD OF EDUCATION MAKES DECISION ON ARBITRATOR'S REPORT

The Hastings County Board of Education passed the following resolution at its regular meeting on February 22nd, 1971.

"It is recommended that the Board accept the report of the Arbitrator and direct the Administration to issue copies of the analysis of Arbitrator's decisions as applied to County Municipalities, to all municipalities in the County."

The Department of Education has instructed the Board to deal with the results of the arbitration reports in the following manner:

1. Municipalities supporting a predecessor Board with an adjusted deficit as reported by the Arbitrator: (i) The Hastings County Board will receive a payment from the Province equal to one-third of the adjusted deficit. The remaining two-thirds will be carried forward on the Board's books into 1972. It is intended that further grant assistance will be available in 1972 and 1973 to retire these deficits.

(ii) Interest will be charged to each such municipality at 15% of its share of the adjusted deficit which is deemed to be the full cost of financing the adjusted deficit up to December 31, 1970. (Average 7 1/2% per year).

(iii) The interest will be added to

Credit due to Oddfellows and Rebekahs

Last week in the Review, the Carnival write-up on the Queen read, "the Carnival Committee presented her with a cash award, etc.". It was brought to our attention that the Snow Queen was totally sponsored by the L.O.O.F. and Rebekah Lodges as their generous contribution to the Carnival.

We apologize for any misunderstanding this may have caused.

International Letter Carrier

Hats off to Miss Ada Adams, world traveller. On March 3rd, Hilda McGowan received a letter from a friend, Mary Preston, in London, England, despite their rather lengthy mail strike. Miss Adams had visited Mrs. Preston on March 1st, and brought several letters to mail in Canada.

Education Week Plans Finalized

A meeting was held in the staff room of Centre Hastings Secondary School, in order to finalize plans for Education Week, on Wednesday, February 24. Mr. Eamonn Murphy was in the chair.

Representatives from the area schools gave reports on their individual plans.

Mr. J. Murphy, Madoc Public School, reported that they would be having Open House for the whole week. Parents are free to wander as they wish. Work is being done on the teacher exchange between the public and high school.

Mrs. B. Parsons spoke on plans for Tweed Public School. They will be having Open House on Wednesday. Parent interviews are to be held, with a booklet being sent out to parents giving the school curriculum. Snowmobiling will be on Friday.

Mr. K. Gillies principal of Earl Prentice Public Schools in Marmora, told of his proposed "Parental Participating Programme" which will provide parents with an opportunity to participate in classes. He mentioned especially the Science classes, Language Arts Programme, and the Resources Centre materials. As part of the programme, students will give visitors a guided tour of the school.

Sister Luella, of St. Catharines, Tweed, told us that they are having Open House on Tuesday and Wednesday. The separate schools are having a banquet for the whole area. Parent interviews can be arranged as the parents wish.

Mrs. McCoy from Madoc Township School, reported that Monday will be the day for their Open House. Plans for Tuesday include snowmobiling. Snow sculpting will go on all week and a writing contest is planned.

Mr. C. Dell, Centre Hastings Secondary School, explained the plans which are being made in order to familiarize new students with the "House System." Mr. Dell would like to have all the grade 8 students visiting the high school at one time, to be welcomed by, and introduced to, members of their new house. It was decided that Mr. Dell should set up liaison between schools in order to plan this project.

Mr. E. Murphy told of plans being made at Centre Hastings Secondary School for Education Week. They are: Holding a General Assembly; Mr. J. Lockerbie of the Department of Education has been invited to speak; the Canadian Armed Forces Band will perform; Open House for everyone; and on Friday, money raising activities.

Much discussion was held on the proposed "Award Banquet," and it was decided that a notice should be sent out with all students to publicize the event. Mrs. McNab was volunteered to produce a "flyer" which will be the standard sent out from all schools.

Mr. Morrison went over plans for the newspaper which is to be put together on Thursday, February 25. There was some discussion of costs, but the general feeling was of enthusiasm.

Rev. J. Thompson, representing the local T.V. station, told us that Mr. Pigden was very interested in Education Week, and has offered to give as much publicity as he can. Plans have been made to interview involved persons with the programme to be shown on Sunday, March 7.

A display was suggested to be set up in a downtown store window, and it was generally felt that there should be as much publicity as possible for Education Week.

The principal's decided to meet as a smaller group in order to coordinate the proposed teacher exchange.

The group felt that all problems had been covered and that it would be unnecessary to hold any further meetings, and adjourned at 5:45 p.m.

Notices have been sent out to area residents, requesting nominations for an "Outstanding Educator."

If you know someone who should be recognized for his or her contribution to education, please do not hesitate to submit the name. Some have already been received. The nominated person can be a teacher, minister, businessman or any member of the community and can be nominated by anyone, as well.

The award will be presented during "Education Week" at a banquet to be held in the winning educators' honour on Wednesday, March 10th, 1971.

GRANT KETCHESON LEAVES FOR ENGLAND THROUGH SCHOLARSHIP

Mr. Grant Ketcheson, who operates, jointly, a large dairy farm in Madoc Township, with his father, Mr. Allen Ketcheson, has been awarded a six-month's scholarship by the Nuffield Foundation.

The Nuffield scholarships have been offered for a number of years to young farmers in a number of Commonwealth countries including Canada, Australia, New Zealand, Kenya and Rhodesia. The scholarships include travel and expenses to Great Britain and return, plus a generous travel and living allowance while there.

GRANT KETCHESON

Grant left here around noon on Sunday and will undertake a five to six month's study program of farming and allied agricultural organizations in Britain. His tour will include visits with the British Ministry of Agriculture and the National Farmer's Union.

A well-known professional dairy farmer, Grant graduated from Macdonald College, Ste. Anne de Belleville, Quebec, in 1962, with a B.Sc. Agriculture Degree.

While overseas, he will undertake a study of dairy farming in the United Kingdom.

This is the second time he has been selected. As many who know Grant will recall, last year he was chosen and when preparing to leave, in January a disastrous fire took the toll of the family's dairy farm. In order to help the Ketcheson partnership to get back on its feet, he made the decision to cancel his participation in the 1970 Nuffield program. Since then, he has participated in a large scale rebuilding job which resulted in a modern dairy enterprise now in operation.

Married to the former Gayle Pitts, also from Madoc, they have one pre-school age daughter, Susan. His wife, who is employed at the Madoc Township Public School, is planning to join him late in June when school is out and it is not presently known if she will take Susan with her.

The Nuffield Scholarships program in Canada is administered by the Canadian Federation of Agriculture.

Grant is planning to send some correspondence to us regarding his trip and hopes the present mail strike is cleared up so it won't interfere with the delivery of his letters.

Seventeen-year-old MISS MARGARET LAHEY, who was crowned Queen at the C.H.S.S. Annual "At Home" Formal Dance last Friday night. A member of Gemini, House 2, Margaret is a Grade 12 student at the school. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Lahey of R.R. 4, Madoc. First runner-up for the title was Miss Debbie Mantle from Marmora. A large crowd came out for the evening and all report an exceptionally good time, dancing to the music of the "Men of Note".

Present were Reeve Thos. Burnside and Councillors J. M. Caverly, Kel Kincaid and Clayton Smith.

Messrs. M. G. Wade and Bill Minion of J. D. Lee Engineering Ltd. were also present, as was Mr. Goodberry of Goodberry Well Drilling Ltd. The purpose of the meeting was to review the tenders for drilling a new ten-inch well.

Caverly — Smith — That tenders be opened.

1. Goodberry Well Drilling Ltd., Amount, $5,530.00 ($7,690.00); Cost per foot to Increase Depth, $27.00 ($40.00); Saving per foot to Decrease Depth, $27.00 ($40.00)
2. F. E. Johnston Ltd., Amount, $5,660. ($9,500.); Cost per foot to Increase Depth, $30. ($50.); Saving per foot to Decrease Depth, $15.00. ($25.00).
3. J. D. Crowley & Associates, Amt., $9,435. ($10,212.00); Cost per foot to Increase Depth, $48.50 ($52.50); Cost per foot to Decrease Depth, $5.00 ($5.00).

International Water Supply did not bid in accordance with the tender documents and therefore their bid was ruled invalid by Council.

The figures in brackets represent the tendered prices for a 12" well.

It was felt that the benefits gained from a 12" well did not justify the additional cost of $2,160.00.

Mr. Wade recommended that the tender of Goodberry Well Drilling Ltd. be accepted for the drilling of a ten-inch well.

Caverly — Kincaid — that the Madoc Village Council accept the bid of Goodberry Well Drilling Ltd. for a ten-inch well at $5,530.00, with adjustments for depth.

Council adjourned.

POUR YOUR OWN WITH SMILEY'S MIX

By Bill Smiley

Well, we ventured into Sodom or Gomorrah recently, and escaped with nothing worse than a case of pop. Or thirteen cases to be exact.

We just had to visit our daughter at university because she's lonely. This is the Old Battleaxe's story, and Kim aids and abets with sly innuendoes in her letters.

How anybody can be lonely when she's living in a house with thirteen other girls is beyond the simple comprehension of a male parent.

Maybe she is lonely, but her real reason for wanting us to go down and see her is that she knows she's going to get a night in a hotel room, have a smashing good dinner, and see a show, none of which is included in her budget.

The day before we were to go, my muffler blew. This, coupled with dire weather warnings and my phobia about the city, made me suggest cancelling the trip. Nothing doing.

Turned out to be the worst weekend for driving this winter, and that's a big statement. However, we made it. Had a room reserved, but had forgotten about the big political convention.

The hotel lobby was chaos. Wild-eyed room clerks. Red-eyed conventioners arguing over the bills they had run up, which they had signed with a flourish for food and drink before the rusty dawn of the day. Not a bell-hop to be had.

Finally got a key. The people had checked out, said the flunkies, but the room wasn't made up yet. All we wanted to do was relax after a 150-mile bad drive, so we found our own way up. Not only was the room not made up, it was still occupied. But the residents, a charming couple from Ottawa, let us in while they finished packing.

Both the room and the couple looked like the tailend of a convention. It was actually two adjoining rooms and they looked like a scene from Ten Nights in a Bar-room. Not the people, the rooms.

This had been a "hospitality room", it turned out. That is a polite way of saying a place where the drinks, usually supplied as a public relations deal by the distillers, are free for every moocher who arrives, as well as the hard-working politicians.

There was still plenty of booze, and about eighteen cartons of mix. There was one made-up bed in the two rooms. The rest of the space was a conglomerate of glasses, bars, desks, placards and posters.

Sam, the husband, was a fairly big wheel organizer. He was tottering with fatigue and sounded as though he had swallowed two pounds of sand, after four days and nights of working for the cause.

But within twenty minutes, we were fast friends. At four p.m., they informed us that they had to meet their son and his wife at the station at four p.m. They got away about 4:15, leaving us with the chores of telling their son where they might meet him, and protecting the booze that was left.

Everything worked fine. Son phoned, got the message. Booze men, looking like a couple of hotel dicks, picked up the booze, giving us the cold suspicious stare. I hadn't taken a single jug, so help me. My wife wouldn't let me.

But they wouldn't take the mix. Cartons and cartons and bottles and bottles of it. We sat around desolately in the wreckage for three hours, waiting for the maids to come. Finally, the Old Lady got sore, phoned the desk and demanded action. We were given another room.

But leave all that mix? Not an old prisoner of war. We carted thirteen cases with us, after giving several to a raucous party from Timmins, across the hall, who had been ogling and whistling at wife and daughter, to former's delight and latter's amusement.

Settled in new room. Knock on door. Family of four entered. They had been given same room. Dad exhausted, mother distraught, teen-age daughter excited and twelve year old son sitting sullenly in corner, muttering, "No trust an alcoholic." Gave them a drink. Buddies in no time. But they still had no room.

Saw show. Wife shocked at nude scene. Checked out next day with thirteen cases of mix, about $35 worth. "Real Hicks," said the bell-boys' arrogant glares. Carried it off with aplomb.

Dropped Kim and eight cartons of ginger ale and cola at her residence. Arrived home with five of soda and tonic water. Drop around, and bring your own booze. Any time. We're set for mix.

CORRESPONDENCE

February 23rd, 1971.

Mr. Goulah,
The Review,
Madoc, Ontario.

Dear Sir:

Enclosed please find cheque for our subscription to the North Hastings Review. We have taken the paper since 1916, and there are very few people that we know. But I have a certain affinity for the Review and Madoc.

My wife is a Madoc girl (the former Mabel Ried, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Reid.) I was working on the Review when Col Orr sold the paper to the late Mr. A. H. Watson. I left Madoc, and about a year later I was engaged by Mr. Watson as manager, which position I held until April 1916, when we left for Comber where we had purchased the Comber Herald which we published for 51 years.

I like your new format and offer my congratulations and best wishes for your success.

Sincerely,
E. E. Lancaster

HEADS FEDERATION

The annual meeting of the Hastings County Federation of Agriculture was held at the Ivanhoe Hall on February 23rd, two weeks later than originally planned - due to bad weather.

Members of the Ivanhoe Women's Institute arranged the tables and supplied the dishes and beverage for a pot luck supper.

Following this, Mr. Phil Flagler of C.J.B.Q. Belleville, was introduced and gave his address and slides on "Fifty Years of Radio", which evoked many memories of the days before television when "The Happy Gang", Lone Ranger, Fibber McGee and Mollie" and many many more were eagerly awaited programs. The years were spanned from Charles Lindbergh crossing the Atlantic to Winston Churchill broadcasting to the world during World War II, to the Astronauts landing on the Moon.

Mr. Flagler was thanked by Ross Ketcheson who presented him with some county cheese and expressed the feeling of all present when he said that Phil seemed like one of the family and was always welcome at the meetings.

The President opened the business part of the meeting and reviewed the past year's program. The minutes of the last annual meeting were read and approved. Copies of the financial report were given out by the Treasurer and this was discussed and then adopted as printed.

Wilfrid Forestell gave very good reports for the C.I.A.G. Committee and the Farm Service Club.

Donald Martin introduced the new O.F.A. fieldman for Hastings County, Mr. Ossie Bowes, Forrester's Falls, Repref County, who presided for the nomination, from the floor, and elected.

MARMORA PROJECT SET FOR SPRING

The long awaited Marmora waterworks project is due to get underway just as soon as weather and ground conditions permit.

Clarke T. Rollins, M.P.P., met with Marmora Village Council on Saturday, February 13th, to deliver the final papers. Members of Council expressed appreciation for Mr. Rollins' efforts in getting provincial assistance totalling $136,457. This sum represents one-half the total cost.

The contract has been awarded to Rideau Valley Construction Limited and is to be completed by November. The possibility of improvements to Highway 14 south to Stirling was also discussed, because of its importance to Marmora residents who work in Belleville and because it could be an added attraction for industry coming into the area.

The Ontario Water Resources Commission is working on Marmora's proposed sewage system and more information is expected on that subject.

Meanwhile, thank you for your gift (even though some of us are looking the gift-horse in the mouth.)

Planting the word-seed

The other day a friend came to me rather worried and asked how we had taught our youngest, who is eight, to like reading so much. His own eight-year-old, he said, had never picked up a book in his life except to look under it for the TV Guide.

I didn't have much of an answer for him. My oldest son, who is an adult now, also reads a lot. I weaned him from comic books by buying him what was really just a comic book without pictures; something called Roy Rogers and the Secret of Silver Gulch.

Another son never did read much. Another daughter did. This little girl — well, at eight, as I write this, she is forging through Little Women. Since Christmas, she has read Anne of Green Gables and two sequels, plus several shorter books.

But she did it all on her own.

I can remember the shock I felt when she was two years and eight months old. We always allowed her to play with any books she wanted; not only her own, but any from our bookcases. This one day she staggered away from a bookshelf carrying a heavy book called Art Treasures in the Royal Ontario Museum (Theodore A. Henrich), set it down, opened it, and said aloud: I-N-T-R-O-D-U-C-T-I-O-N. What does that spell, Daddy?"

Her most used toys in those days were: (a) magnetized letters which went with metal boards on which she could make words; and (b) a pencil and paper. We let her have a pencil and paper any time, and still do. What's a few marks on the bedroom wallpaper, between friends?

At that age, 33 months, she could read the following words: Fox, Moon, Astrid (her name), Mommy, Daddy, and about 30 other short ones like 15, cat and so on.

The first word she ever made herself (with the magnetic letters) was one day when she came out of the sun-room and held up her magnetic board and said, "That's Moon," which it was. Fox was the second.

She would fish around among her letters and make non-words, too, holding up HJULL, or some such, and asking, "What's that?" When told it wasn't a word she'd try again.

The first letter she printed with a pencil was A. She made at least 100 A's that day.

I told her, "Now, if you put a T after that A, it spells At." Which she did.

She got a kick out of jokes with words, and still does. One day before she was three I arranged letters on her magnetic board to read: "Astrid is a cat." She read it, laughed, and said, "No, Astrid is a girl."

About that time my wife bought some books and began to work with her for a few minutes a day. These books included two Dr. Seuss books, Hop on Pop, and ABC, which we still have. (You never know when it might be needed — maybe by her own children, a long time from now.)

She also drew a lot at that time. I remember the day she drew her first church, with a round window, and a tower and steeple. This came about after what was a rather typical sort of exchange around our place, at the time.

She was sitting in her high chair at the kitchen counter just before dinner, working on her own with pencil and paper. Her mother stopped, pointed to what she had just done, and said, "That's a four."

The little girl regarded the page seriously for a few seconds and then said, "Yes, that is a four, but I really wanted to make a church."

She watches television now I guess as much as any child. But often she'll go impatiently around the dial, look at every channel, and then switch it off and pick up a book.

But darned if I can think of anything we did except to encourage her own inclinations. And I should emphasize: She's no genius, just a normal little girl who likes skating, playing with dolls... and reading.

Junior sportsmen exploited

Each year, minor hockey appeals to parents to "take, not send, your boy to the arena."

For thousands of youngsters in the cities, the minor hockey program provides the only chance to play the game. The "good old days" when a boy learned his hockey at a corner lot are apparently all but gone.

There is no denying the fact that minor hockey officials are doing an honest job, spending thousands of hours without remuneration, just for the enjoyment of seeing young Canadians play the game that this country has dominated for so long.

But, unfortunately, there are a few officials who appear to have forgotten the purpose of minor hockey — providing good sport under good coaching.

To them, winning at all cost is the creed; to them, the game is designed to inflate the egos of the fathers instead of seeing that the boys have a good time.

There has to be something wrong with minor hockey when eight-year-old youngsters can be told they are going to Finland to represent Canada in some "goodwill" hockey games.

Or, when kids of 13 can be taken out of school to go to Quebec City and compete in an "international" hockey tournament before sellout crowds of 17,000 in the Coliseum. When a team loses, the tears flow faster than the liquor at the all-night parties attended by other competitors in the Quebec Winter Carnival events.

Surely kids of eight or 13 years of age are not ready for such public exposure. They should be playing the game to enjoy it, playing it as well as they can but not for the benefit of some sponsors or publicity-seeking parents and hockey officials.

What kind of parents are they who will even consider sending their sons to Finland for a hockey tournament? Whether or not the games are ever played is not important.

What needs study is the motivation of the organizers of this trip.

Is it the fathers, who see in their sons a chance to capture the so-called glory they missed by not playing organized hockey? Do they see visions of Gordie Howe, only with their names attached, when they watch these minor atoms compete?

Or is it the officials of the Don Valley Hockey Association in Toronto who figure, and rightly so, that the newspapers, radio and television will report the games across Canada and give some publicity to the league?

As usual, the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association got into the act when the wise course would have been to ignore the whole suggestion. By advising the Finnish Hockey Association that such a trip was not sanctioned by the CAHA, the Canadian officials were in fact recognizing the trip itself.

We hope hockey hasn't reached such ridiculous proportions in this country that any sane-minded official would consider sending eight-year-olds to play hockey in a foreign country.

If the parents want to take their youngsters out of school and tour Finland, fine! But let's not use the kids as an excuse for the trip.

The sponsor of the team has to be equally guilty. If the tax office in Ottawa steps forward and rules that money spent on this by the company is not deductible, that would end, once and for all, the chance of a repeat.

As a father of an eight-year-old son, I fail to understand the solid backing given this proposal by the parents involved.

I never made the NHL and I don't expect my son to do it for me. Let the kids have fun. Next year, take your boy to the arena, but let him do his own thing.

In this pursuit of quality learning, the Board of Education and its administration have certain guiding principles which determine their actions. These guiding principles will continue to be expressed in the area of education and not legislation. Principals, staffs and local community personnel will be encouraged to consider these principles and implement them if they desire at a pace and in a manner most suitable for the local area.

The formation of the County Boards of Education was a natural step to the move towards larger units of jurisdiction. This system is designed to provide equality of educational opportunity throughout the Province. It will attempt to meet the needs of individual students and provide the opportunity for intelligent planning to meet these needs. Through effective and efficient management, an equitable distribution of costs will be matched by the maximizing of the dollars involved.

It remains to be seen how effective the new County Board will be in the achievement of these objectives. Certainly the Board of Education, in its short history, has made an honest and productive beginning and will continue to pursue its goal with vigour.

Fortunately, the Board of Education and its administration have established a number of basic commitments which guide their operations. They recognize that the creation of the new County system has provided a unique opportunity for many things, but above all, for the Principals and their staffs to be central to the decision-making processes which will meet the local needs of pupils. The professional staff will be called upon to seize the initiative and provide the direction which learning will take during the years to come. The Board and its administration will provide the resources and services to assist the Principal, the staff and the local community to achieve this goal.

The Board of Education believes that it must work hard to create a climate conducive to the position stated above. It will continue to hold to the point of view that "we believe in people". They believe that teachers are hard-working, intelligent, capable professionals responsive to the challenges that are evident in education today. They believe that strong and persuasive leadership must be founded on the cornerstone of trust, frankness, in the dealings with those engaged in this enterprise and the belief in the importance of serving the individual child.

The Board of Education is committed to the concept of "involvement". They recognize that our educational system will grow properly only if all those involved in the process are committed to the process: through involvement they will get commitment. Thus, the Principals of our schools are encouraged to involve the children, the parents and members of the community in the educational enterprise. They are encouraging the community use of schools and have shown the way through the establishment of local "Task Forces". During the coming months, it is hoped that local school communities will find many ways to make this crucial idea a reality.

The people of Hastings County should be aware that ours is a pursuit of quality learning. We want the best staff that can be obtained and the best trained through an energetic professional development programme. We want the best learning environment that can be established in the area of attitude, buildings, equipment, supplies and so on. The Board will provide resources to assist the school staff in this pursuit of quality learning. They recognize that an integrated system involving all the resources

What are some of these guiding principles?

A. Education is a continuum, and therefore we must build bridges across the traditional gap that has plagued the elementary and secondary systems of Ontario. It will be essential that the teachers cooperate with the schools and between the schools to plan an integrated approach to the curriculum. Hand in hand with cooperative team planning will be a move towards an interdisciplinary approach to the curriculum. This move will tend to "blow the walls out" between subjects and hopefully provide a more relevant situation.

B. The Board of Education believes that experiences in learning depend on pupil needs and interest. This means that the pupils must be involved in planning courses of study backed up by the professional educator. A great many new options will be introduced to the curriculum so that motivation will be enhanced.

C. There can be little doubt that progress in learning depends on the pupil's personal and unique maturing rate. Consequently, the Board of Education would promote a continuous progress system where the traditional grade concept is modified and artificial divisions of programme administration are removed. The new courses of study provide for just this approach, where youngsters are not compartmentalized and restricted to one avenue of learning. It should be possible for pupils on an individualized timetable to partake of a variety of learning media.

D. The task confronting the teacher today is overwhelming and the demands placed upon him are great. Despite these facts, the teachers in Hastings County have responded to the challenge. They are engaged in their departments preparing new courses and introducing new methods. These are being translated into action and there is a dynamic attitude evident within our schools.

The educational process to-day is indeed exciting. The Board of Education and the teachers have accepted the challenges of change. They are proceeding enthusiastically and carefully to provide an educational system of which we can all be proud. The future looks good.

Game Of Play-Offs

Playing the first game of the best of seven series at the local arena last Saturday night, the Madoc Intermediate defeated Gosport in a six-minute overtime period with a score of 9-8.

An excellent crowd showed up to watch the excitement and they certainly were not disappointed.

Opening the scoring in the first period, Bill Quick, No. 10 player of Gosport, tallied at the 2:18 mark, just as Jerry Chapman was released from the penalty box on a two-minute boarding count. Less than a minute later, Dick Chapman assisted by Jerry Chapman, beat the Gosport goalie at the net. At the 7:41 mark, both teams lost a player to the penalty box — Bill Walker of the locals and Glen Offen, Gosport's goalie. (Each were given two minutes for high sticking.) With both teams short a player, Bill Quick of the opponents came back with a reply at the 8:32 mark, but the locals tallied two more goals before the end of the period. Jerry Chapman whipped one in unassisted at the 14:30 mark. Playing short-handed, with Terry Chapman in the penalty box on a two-minute slashing count, Glen Graham, on an assist of Ralph Francis, scored with less than two minutes remaining in the period, bringing Madoc to a 3-2 lead.

Early in the second stanza, Dick Chapman was handed a two-minute tripping penalty and shortly after his release, Gosport tied the score at the 8:32 mark. Ralph Francis, assisted by Glen Graham and Terry McGregor, tallied at the 10:40 mark, putting Madoc back in the lead. Just three minutes later, E. Bartsch on an assist of Dick Chapman, put one in past Gosport's goalie, and at the 16:38 mark, Terry Chapman, on assists of Bartsch and D. Phillips, brought the score up to 6-3 for Madoc. Deciding this margin was not wide enough, Bartsch whipped one in at the 17:42 mark, assisted by T. Chapman and Bob Chapman. Gosport scored the final goal in the dying 44 seconds of the period, bringing the score to 7-4 for Madoc.

In the third stanza, Gosport wasted no time when they scored at the 2:03 minute mark. Terry Chapman shot in a quick reply at the 3:40 mark. Madoc's only goal of the period, Gosport whipped another in at the 9:58 mark. The Madoc boys lost Bill Walker to a two-minute hooking penalty at the 10:51 mark and the crowd began to get quite restless. However, the locals held their own until after the penalty. At the 12:16 mark, just as the spectators started to breathe easy again, the opponents tallied another goal and the crowd went wild. A two-minute holding penalty was called on Gosport, but the locals were met with a tough defence that foiled all their scoring efforts. The remainder of the period was uneventful, until, just when it looked like the game was over, Gosport tied the score up, with just 13 seconds left in the period.

Going into overtime, fans were kept on the edge of their seats for more than six minutes when, finally, Jerry Chapman assisted by Bartsch, wound up the scoring, giving the locals the 9-8 victory.

The boys will be travelling to Brighton tonight (Wednesday) to meet Gosport in the second game of the series. A bus has been lined up to drive the players there, and the remainder of the seats will be filled with any spectators wishing to go. It will be leaving Ed Kramp's Super-test at seven o'clock and tickets for the trip are available at $1.50 each.

The next home game will be this Sunday afternoon, March 7th, at 2:00 p.m. Come out and support your team.

For the first time in this area, an Elementary School Basketball League has been established. There is both a boys and a girls league. These are senior teams (grades 7 and 8), with representatives from the Madoc Public School, Marmora senior Public School, Tweed Senior Public School, Stirling Senior Public School and Marmora Separate School. Each team will play a five-game schedule.

On Thursday, February 25th, Madoc Senior Girls' and Boys' teams travelled to Tweed for a double-header. The Senior Girls took it on the chin as Tweed defeated them 36-4.

Scoring for Madoc were Cathy Lee, 2 pts.; Joyce Brownson, 1 pt.; and Debbie Wiggins, 1 pt. The Senior Boys were engaged in a see-saw battle with their Tweed counterparts. Each team traded baskets throughout the game, with Madoc winning 24-23. Leading the Madoc scorers were Harley Willemssen and David Wannamaker, with six points each and Robert Trotter with four points. Others taking part in the Madoc scoring were: Scott Simpson, Joey Brooks, Peter Thompson and Peter Houston.

On Thursday, March 4th, Stirling provides the opposition for Madoc in the Public School gym.

TROPHIES PRESENTED TO TOP SHOOTERS AT FEBRUARY REGULAR MEETING

February's regular monthly meeting of the Madoc District Hunters and Anglers' Club began at 8:30 p.m. in the Orange Hall, with 20 members and friends in attendance. The minutes of the January meeting were read and adopted.

Ticket sales will begin in mid March on a rifle or a portable television, or $200 cash (winners choice). The tickets will be 50c apiece or three for $1.00. The draw will take place on August 1st on Channel 6.

A bus trip to the Sportsmen's Show is being organized. It was felt opening day would be the best time to attend. Tickets are expected to cost $3.00 and it is hoped all seats will be filled. Anyone wishing to take this trip should contact M. Quinn Sr. or Frank Szumigaj for their tickets.

Two thousand red pine trees will be ordered for spring planting on the Club grounds. These seedlings are ordered from the Department of Lands and Forests, at a slight cost, and will add to the beauty of the Club property.

The Club's efforts to obtain birds for the trap segment of the Club before an increase in tax takes effect, has been in vain. Oh well, they do use the money wisely. Harry Dennis will purchase a collection of different targets, and the shooters will select the one best suited to the particular needs.

Due to the miserable weather, the Carnival shoot was unsuccessful. Because of this and the success of all other activities of the Winter Carnival, no donation will be forwarded from the Club.

President Grant Ketcheson was wished a pleasant and successful trip. He is expected back in August.

Jimmy Williams of Molson's presented L. Hicks, Joe Foley and M. Quinn Jr. with the trophies won for the rifle competition during 1970.

The meeting adjourned at 9:30. Films were shown and lunch was served, to end a successful meeting.

TARGET TALK

The second contest of the year was held February 21st at the Madoc and District Hunters and Anglers rifle range, under very dull skies. Twelve marksmen were present and the competition, as usual, quite keen.

The prize winners for the day were: Round 1, M. Quinn Sr., 100 yds.; Round 2, L. Hicks, 100 yds.; Round 3, L. Summers, 100 yds.; Round 4, M. Quinn Jr., 50 yds.; Round 5, Joe Quinn, 50 yds.; Round 6, B. Herrington, 50 yds.; and Round 7, G. Donaldson, 50 yds.

The revised rules are being used for the point system and the three classes of sights are being used. The trophies are given at year-end on the three sight classifications. The points accumulated must be kept separate for each classification. In class 1 and 2, a total of 20 would be a perfect score, while class 3 has a total of 30. Here, then are the points accumulated for the day:

| L. Hicks      | 20      | 20      | 20      |
| J. Foley      | 15      | 19      | 28      |
| M. Quinn Sr.  | 19      | 20      | 30      |
| M. Quinn Jr.  | 18      | 20      | 30      |
| Joe Quinn     | 17      | 20      | 30      |
| M. Quinn Jr.  | 18      | 20      | 30      |
| G. Donaldson  | 17      | 19      | 28      |
| L. Carman     | Absent  | 16      | 26      |
| B. Herrington | 19      | 20      | Absent  |

The schedule of shoots shows the next contest will be held on March 21st. A hearty welcome to all who enjoy this type of sport. See you at the range!

On Wednesday evening, February 9, about 75 friends and neighbours gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Wannamaker, East Crookston, to spend the evening with them before their departure for their new home in Madoc Township. Mr. Storing read an address signed on behalf of their friends and neighbours by Will Daeoe and Wm. Storing.

Wedding — On Thursday, February 1st, the Methodist Parsonage at Eldorado was the scene of a quiet but pretty wedding when Rev. A. C. Hie united in marriage Emma Gertrude, daughter of Joseph and Mrs. Hinchcliffe, to Harry Morton Gunter of Whitewood, Sask. The happy couple left on the afternoon C.N.R. train for their home in Saskatchewan.

A very quiet wedding was solemnized at the Methodist Parsonage at Eldorado, by Rev. A. C. Hie, when Miss Phoebe Jane Parks of Cashel became the bride of Robert James Whittle of Tudor.

Swept by a severe windstorm, a house, driven and barn were unroofed when the gale reached cyclonic proportions in some sections. Heaviest damage was done to the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Ketcheson of Wellington. There the roof was ripped off the house, leaving the brick walls standing. These rooves were scattered as far as the eye could see. Some parts were found half a mile away. The wind also struck the drive house, tearing out one end and ripping the roof off. Heavy timbers were twisted.

Friends of Miss Kay Connor were much interested in hearing her sing as guest soloist in the Marconi program, "Stardust Serenade", on Sunday evening. She is from Vancouver, B.C., but is a niece of Mrs. E. Demoreest, W. E. Connor and Alfred Connor of Madoc.

LOCAL MAN IN TOP AIR DEFENCE UNIT

North Bay, Ontario (Norad) - Private Allen Hoover, whose parents Mr. and Mrs. George Hoover live in Madoc Ontario, is currently serving at Canadian Forces Station Val d'Or, Quebec, which has been named winner of the prized Steinhardt Trophy. The trophy is awarded annually to the most proficient unit in the Air Defence Command (ADC), the Canadian component of the North American Air Defence Command (Norad).

Selection of CFS Val d'Or was based upon the individual nominations of the Senior Staff at ADC Headquarters in North Bay, Ontario. Each Staff Officer assessed the performance of all 37 ADC units.

According to Major General Maurice Lipton, Commander of ADC and the 22nd Norad Region, the final selection was most difficult because of the high performance standards of all ADC units. Nevertheless, Val d'Or's performance in the Air Defence of Canada marked it as the best.

The Steinhardt Trophy was originally donated to the RCAF by Mrs. A. A. Sherlock in memory of her late father, Lawrence A. Steinhardt, U.S. Ambassador to Canada from October 1948 to March 1950. It is awarded each year to the most proficient unit in the Air Defence Command, the Canadian component of the North American Air Defence Command (Norad).

The Air Defence Command is the major component of the 22nd Norad Region which directs the air defence of more than two million square miles of Canada.

Bilingualism fading fast?

OTTAWA — I've been sitting here for the past week trying to figure out whether the latest foul-up between Ottawa and Quebec City is accidental or contrived.

You'll remember that Premier Robert Bourassa told a national CBC audience recently that as far as he was concerned the other provincial premiers wouldn't mind if special constitutional rights for English-speaking Canadians in the Province of Quebec were withdrawn.

Well, on the next day in Parliament, Prime Minister Trudeau said this was not the thinking of the recent constitutional conference at all. But Mr. Trudeau was careful to hedge his language, and that's something you learn to watch when you're quoting the Great Man.

Most public figures make a real effort to ensure that reporters know the exact sense of what they are saying, but quite often the PM plays with words. He may seem to be saying one thing, when he's actually saying the other.

It's not so important to him that the reporter knows what he means, so long as the Prime Ministerial reputation is covered by the sometimes double meaning of the exact words.

That's why we worried over the PM's words on the Bourassa thing. He refused to stop outside the Commons to clarify what he said in Parliament, and that reinforced suspicion.

Mr. Bourassa pointed out in his television appearance that under the British North America Act, only the Federal Government and the Government of Quebec were required to have bilingual government documents, bilingual legislative proceedings, and bilingual courts.

It's unfair to expect Quebec alone of all the provinces to be officially bilingual, said Mr. Bourassa, and he claimed that the other premiers had agreed with him when they all met at the Ottawa constitutional conference in early February. The conference communiqué was optimistic about the premiers agreeing to a formula for formally amending the constitution at the coming June meeting in Victoria, B.C.

From reading the communiqué, you know that the country is but a few months away from bringing the Canadian constitution home from London, complete with a formula for amending the document in Canada in future.

Mr. Bourassa, in fact, told the television audience that he thought it would be possible for Quebec to end bilingualism in the province before the end of 1971 by amending the BNA Act.

For years now, the Quebec Assembly has winked at the official need for bilingual proceedings anyway, and often you have to hunt hard for an English document out of Quebec City. In the provincial courts, however, there is the right of every citizen to have a trial conducted in either English or French. Mr. Bourassa assures that although Quebec wants to remove this right from the lawbooks and make it a privilege, in fact it wouldn't work that way. English in provincial courts would continue.

Garbage. Show me one case where a right has been removed, legally, and stayed in place in practice. Such rights get eroded.

And how in blazes are we going to convince the rest of the country that bilingualism should indeed come to Canada when Quebec is moving to the unilingual extreme?

Rather than removing bilingual rights for Quebec's English-speaking minority from the Constitution, we should be adding those rights for French-speaking minorities in other provinces.

Mr. Trudeau and Mr. Bourassa both profess to be federalists, but if they mean it, they'd better get together on what they're saying, because the removal of the rights of Quebec's English-speaking minority from the lawbooks will reverse the whole process of understanding in Canada.

GREETINGS FROM EAST AFRICA

We were pleased this week to hear from Miss Ada Adams who is travelling in Africa. Following is the content of her letter.

It is truly a fascinating land with its vast rolling hills, savannas, and plains. Man is very small and insignificant by comparison but he should have a broad outlook! All around me as I sit in the shade on a broad sloping lawn, with glistening Mt. Kenya in the distance, are tropical trees and flowers — lofty gum trees, palms, acacias, the tall blue-flowering jacaranda tree, while the red and pink bougainvillea vines are climbing over roofs and into tree tops. Many, many flowers are strange to me... the poinsettias and the roses are especially fine. Songbirds are everywhere — they waken one in the morning while the treefrogs — with maybe a mourning dove, or a hyena, puts one to sleep at night. Most fascinating to me are the story-book animals — lordly giraffe, graceful gazelles, the clownish gnus or wildebeeste, the majestic lions, elusive leopards, stately elephants... to mention only a few. One afternoon on a game run I counted 61 giraffes, one morning 103 elephants. It is interesting to see how the parent animals always protect their young, keeping between them and our safari buses. It is a common sight to see baby monkeys riding on their mother's back or being led by the hand. One day we saw a long line of elephants in migration; a baby was holding onto his mother's tail with his trunk. When we are in the National Parks or game reserves, we are not allowed outside the safari bus or the lodge. "Elephants and all animals have the right of way." If there is a water-hole nearby, they will come up quite close to the lodge.

I am the only Canadian in our mainly English tour group. It was a real delight to meet up with a Canadian Farmers group in Tanzania. With them was Mrs. R. Sills of Foxboro. Another lady had spent a night in Madoc. Small world?

The snows on Mt. Kilimanjaro are just as beautiful and glistening white as you may have imagined, while Mt.

Kenya runs a close second.

This afternoon we go to Treetops for night viewing of animal life and this will conclude our African tour — a never-to-be-forgotten experience. We will have covered some 3000 miles, as we travelled from Park to Park. And we have seen thousands and thousands of animals. This leaves little time for letters! Next week I shall spend with Mrs. Marion Gray in Nairobi, where she is working with CIDA.

Regards,
Ada J. Adams

LONG JOB. Prince Philip warns that saving the world from environmental pollution will be a long, hard job. Says the Prince: "You can't preach industrial development for 20 years and then suddenly turn round and say, 'Now hold on! Be careful what you're doing.'" (TTS) sity Women of Belleville and District had as their guest speaker Dr. Joan Bronskill, who spoke on the anti-pollution role of the Belleville Research Institute. She stated that the research program was directed towards finding non-polluting alternatives to conventional pesticides and herbicides for controlling insect pests and weeds. Some alternatives are now in use; others are being developed.

Dr. Bronskill used slides to illustrate her description of alternative methods of pest and weed control. The methods included the propagation, introduction and release of predators, parasites and pathogens of insect pests. The preying mantis and diseases of the cabbage looper were cited as examples. The uses of sex attractants produced by moths, and hormones, sects themselves, were described. Silica formulations may be applied to crop plants to protect them by interfering with the egg laying or feeding of a pest, and anti-tanning agents may be used to interfere with pest metabolism.

Research and development work being conducted by the Research Branch, Canada Department of Agriculture at Belleville and elsewhere on pest control will reduce the need for persistent chemicals on field crops.

A short business meeting preceded the speaker. A budget for the balance of 1971 was outlined by the Treasurer, Mrs. D. T. Thompson.

MR. & MRS. JOHN DAVID PATTERSON PATTERSON - THOMPSON

Thomasburg United Church, was the scene of a pretty wedding on December 31st, 1970, at 10:00 a.m., when Marilyn Jane Thompson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth M. Thompson of R.R. No. 2, Roslin, became the bride of John David Patterson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Glen Patterson of Tweed, in a double-ring ceremony. The altar was beautifully adorned with baskets of white and red 'mums. Rev. E. Munro, assisted by Mr. Bigby, performed the ceremony.

Traditional wedding music was rendered by Miss Mearle Morton during the signing of the register.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a full length gown of white chiffon with a lace overlay falling in scallops down the front. The fitted bodice featured a scalloped neckline and long full sleeves were enhanced by scalloped edging at the wrists. Her floor-length veil was trimmed with lace and fell from a headpiece of white roses and lily of the valley. She carried a cascade bouquet of red roses and wore a gold heirloom necklace which was also worn by her mother on her wedding day.

Miss Carol Thompson was her sister's maid of honour and she wore a floor-length gown with a cherry velvet skirt, a white chiffon bodice and long sleeves. A white velvet low accented the empire waistline with long streamers, falling to the hem. She wore a white velvet headdress trimmed with pearls and carried a colonial bouquet of white and red carnations.

Bridesmaid, Miss Rhonda Vanderwater of Belleville, wore a floor-length gown made entirely of cherry velvet and featuring long sleeves. A white velvet bow was fastened at the empire waistline, releasing long streamers. Her headdress and corsage was identical to that of the maid of honour.

Mr. Robert Chilcott of Tweed was bestman and ushers were Mr. Gary Shaw of Tweed and Mr. Mike Heeney of Toronto.

For the reception held at the Thomasburg United Church Hall, the mother of the bride received the guests wearing a rose dress with a matching rose lace coat, brown accessories and a corsage of white 'mums and pink roses. Assisting, the groom's mother wore a beige knit dress with a matching jacket, beige and brown accessories and a corsage of bronze 'mums and yellow roses.

red rose in crystal vases. Mr. Gordon Armstrong of Willowdale, formerly of Madoc, was toast master.

For the wedding trip to Thunder Bay, the bride donned a long-sleeved dress of brown and white with a winter white vest and a corsage of yellow roses.

Out of town guests were present from Tweed, Madoc, Stirling, Belleville, Kitchener, Willowdale, Foxboro, Millbridge, Bancroft and Hamilton.

Mr. and Mrs. Patterson are residing at 315 Charles St. Belleville.

CROOKSTON 4-H HOMEMAKING CLUB

The first meeting of the Crookston 4-H Club for the project "The Cereal Shelf" was held Saturday, February 13, 1971 at the home of Mrs. Don Blackburn with seventeen members in attendance, and two leaders, Mrs. Blackburn and Mrs. Francis.

The Officers were elected and the following executive was brought about:

President - Kathleen Ashe; Vice-President - Wendy Aylesworth; Treasurer - Kathy Vance; Press Reporter - Marlene Preston.

A financial report was read by Kathy Vance. The next meeting will be held on Saturday, February 27, 1971.

The first discussion dealt with objectives of the club and working methods for cooking. Mrs. Blackburn then discussed cereals and their use around the world.

Mrs. Francis demonstrated measuring techniques and Joanne Francis demonstrated Frypan Cookies using the recipe in our members pamphlets.

We all practised measuring, and tasted the cookies after we had closed the meeting with the 4-H Grace.

GIRLS CLUB OF QUEENSBORO

We plan to hold our meetings on Wednesday nights if it is possible.

MADOC BAPTIST CHURCH

W.M.S. FEBRUARY MEETING

The February Meeting of the W.M.S. of the Madoc Baptist Church was held at the home of Mrs. F. E. Vaughan Monday, February 22, at 2 p.m., with Mrs. Vaughan presiding. Hymn, "Take time to be holy", was sung: Mrs. Vaughan led in prayer.

The minutes of last meeting were read and approved. Offering was taken.

Roll call was answered by repeating a verse of Scripture pertaining to the Christian life.

Mrs. Vaughan read a letter from a Missionary in West Pakistan. Mrs. Moorcroft, Mrs. Rollins and Mrs. Calfin led in prayer for the missionaries.

The next meeting is to be held at the home of Mrs. Jas Forbes on March 29th - at 2 p.m.

Hymn, "Christain Walk Carefully," was sung. Mrs. Rauws, group leader, conducted the remainder of the meeting.

The Theme was, "The Christian Life". Mrs. Beaudrow read a poem, "I am a pilgrim". Each member was asked to tell when and how they began the Christian Walk. Mrs. Rauws took thoughts from the book, "Pilgrim's Progress."

The Christian Life is a pilgrimage and starts by a narrow gate. We must walk the narrow way. As in Pilgrim's experience, the burden of sin rolls away at the cross. We let go of our own works and receive the righteousness of Christ. We get a new name. (Ephesians 1-13.)

The Pilgrims climb up the steep hill is a picture of the Christians walk. We receive blessings and encouragement along the way but tend to rest and stand still. We are to go forward.

The Israelites were led up to the promised land but because of sin had to wander thirty-eight years in the wilderness. David, Samson, Daniel, and others were cited as having victory by using the common things at hand. They were faithful pilgrims. Cor. 12-9-10 was read.

We were reminded of Pilgrims getting into the castle of Despair. By leaving the straight road we took, we sometimes come to this castle. The key to get out of this Castle of Despair is God's promise found in Psalm 115 verse 11. "Ye that fear the Lord; trust in the lord He is their help and their shield."

Mrs. Hauws sang a solo, "I'm a pilgrim and I'm a stranger."

Mrs. Forbes closed with prayer. A time of fellowship was enjoyed.

DRUG PROGRAM ON CHANNEL 6 MADOC

The Moderator programme on Channel 6, Hastings Cable T.V., Madoc, will for the next three Sundays, March 14th, 21st and 28th, be discussing a timely subject, DRUGS. It will cover the reasons, dangers and Law offence of such usage of them. The guests interviewed will be Chief Inspector D. Crosbie, and Inspector R. Blanchford from the Belleville Police Force. An exhibit of tranquilizers, barbituates, marijuana, L.S.D. and nicotin smoking, methods and heroin will be shown and explained. These programmes are designed only for education purposes, to make more local people young and old (and we do have a problem locally), and to try to prevent any of our youth becoming victims of them. If you have any question's pertaining to the law aspect or useage of them please send in your questionnaire to the Moderator or to the local Station in care of Mr. G. Pigden. But, above all, make sure you gather around your sets as a family, invite youth or neighbours in from the country and be informed of a disease that is endangering the lives of thousands of precious young people. Let us try and prevent this habit destroying a young life in our midst.

WILFRED FORESTELL VISITING STATES ON STUDY TOUR

A Madoc Township farmer, Mr. Wilfred Forestell, left on Sunday from Malton International Airport to Des Moines, Iowa, for a Beef Feedlot Study Tour to Central and Western United States for the week.

The United Co-Operatives of Ontario and its counterpart in the States, Farmland Industries Incorporated, have planned the itinerary geared to the "family farm" size operations. It will give Canadian farmers an excellent chance to talk over problems with American Beef farmers and a wonderful opportunity to learn more about the beef business. Some aspects to be covered by the tour are: feeding and management; housing and materials handling; crossbreeding; feeding rations and techniques, etc.

The tour includes an opportunity to see the newer trends in dressing and breaking of beef and its distribution to retail outlets. There will be face-to-face talks with successful cattlemen and with beef specialists and there will be discussions on such subjects as pure breeds vs. crosses, etc.

Extra-curricular visits will be made to the Omaha Stock Yards, one of the largest on the continent; in Kansas City, they will be guests of the Executive Council and Feed personnel of Farmland Industries Inc.; flying to Garden City, they will visit the Garden City Co-Op Equity Exchange and visit feedlots operated by the Co-Op and will see ultra-modern beef packing plants; at Denver, Colorado, the attraction will be the huge Safeway Stores meat distribution centre; and toward the end of the week they will see the Momfort Beef Feedlot at Greeley, Col. The day before they leave for home, Saturday, they will visit the Eaton Branch of the Agland Co-Op which serves the Beef industry in the area, and on Sunday, after an excursion to the Rock Mountains National Park, will leave on a flight from Denver back to Toronto.

Calvin McCoy, who lined up the races, is caught behind scenes describing how he won the businessmen's race.

HIGHLANDS OF HASTINGS BUY SNOW SKIMMERS

The Highlands of Hastings Tourist Regional Council held their regular monthly meeting on Thursday evening last in the Council Chambers at Stirling.

A meeting with Madawaska Valley Tourist Region to talk over mutual problems was discussed, as well as a seminar for Tourist Operators, to be held in March or April. It was decided to hold the Annual Meeting and Dinner at the Skyway Lounge in Deseronto on April 21st. All members are to be invited and are to bring their wives.

The Council has purchased two snow skimmers for first aid purposes on snowmobile trails. Information with regard to the use of snowmobile trails for summer motorcycle touring was requested from Toronto. The meeting was advised that this would probably eventually be accomplished with trails from Bon Echo to Mayo Lake hooking up to Algonquin Park, but at the present time there is no provision for it.

Mr. George Ellsworth, General Manager, read letters of thanks from Trenton Kiwanis Club and Tweed Chamber of Commerce thanking the Tourist Region for the advertising program set up by the Highlands of Hastings Tourist Region for Winter Carnivals in the area. It was decided to retain the Barry Dulmage Associates Limited advertising agency in Belleville to produce the 1971 brochures and Tourist pocket guide or business directory. Both Belleville and Trenton attractions are prominently displayed in this new four-colour brochure.

WATER, WATER! The Goodberry Well Drilling Limited began drilling the new ten-inch well for the Village early this week. They have already dug twenty feet and it looks like Madoc will soon have a good supply of water. The site for the well is at the north-east corner of the Kiwanis Centre.

TO MANY BRAINS NOT ENOUGH HEARTS

By BILL SMILEY

Between the length and the depth of this winter, the depressing unemployment picture, and the looming of new taxes, perhaps a chap has a right to be a bit gloomy these days.

We've had about 13 feet of snow so far. Today I saw a chap up on a snow-bank about twenty feet high. Crouched under the limbs of a maple tree, he was trying to push the snow back enough so that he'd have somewhere to put the next deluge.

And when it hasn't been belting down the white stuff, it's been freezing rain, or cold enough to freeze the brains of a brass monkey.

Despite some statistic-juggling at Ottawa, unemployment figures have climbed steadily. On paper, they're just digits. But when they hit close to home, they're human beings. It's not just the transient or the unskilled worker who is laid off. I have friends, industrious, sober, intelligent workers — foremen and management — who have worked their way up through sheer guts and determination, and are now suddenly in limbo, drawing unemployment insurance. After searching desperately for a job, they become bitter, and one can't blame them.

With mortgage and insurance payments to meet, and just enough money coming in to put food on the table, they feel cheated. After a decade or two of hard work, just when they're beginning to see daylight financially, they are tossed aside through no fault of their own.

Perhaps we have too many brains at Ottawa, and not enough hearts. The logicians, with their figures, convinced the top brains that they could halt inflation. A fiasco! Interest rates are still crippling. The cost of living slides slowly but steadily upward, while the standard of living goes down, or stays static.

Don't ask the financial moguls, or the banks, or the credit companies. They're doing all right. Ask the small business man or the skilled worker whose unemployment insurance has run out. He'll tell you.

And then there are the sneaky taxes coming out of Ottawa. Oh, they're not called taxes. They are merely readjustments, or whatever the slide-rule boys want to call them. You move so much money from here to there, and you're not increasing taxes, merely re-distributing the wealth.

One of these gimmicks is taking away the family allowance from those making more than $10,000. That used to be the fabulous figure we all thought we'd never make. He probably takes home about $7,500, after deductions.

Let's say he has a batch of kids, and is pulling in about $800 a year in baby bonuses, every nickel of it allotted to education or clothing or something. The government has just taxed him $800, call it what you like.

It doesn't bother me. My kids are past the age. But it hits some families like a sledgehammer.

Now there's another sneaker in the offing. The federal government has specifically stated its intent to tax another very large group, made up of school teachers and other people who have not paid unemployment insurance. Its plans to hit them for this, despite the fact that they have been paying into insurance and annuity schemes for years, and that perhaps one in one thousand would ever collect.

Again, it doesn't bother me personally. I can afford the $60-odd dollars a year it will cost. But it's the principle that bothers me. Not only do I pay this, but I will be taxed on the similar amount the school boards, as employees, will have to pay to the fund. This will be several millions of dollars, not to mention all the extra cost of administration to collect it and distribute it.

I got a lesson in economics today. A student said, "Why do we have to worry about all this? When we graduate, there'll be a fixed minimal income, and we won't have to work, anyway."

Maybe he's right.

NEW HOME FOR RETARDED AT PICTON

Robert P. MacKenzie has been appointed Administrator of Prince Edward Heights, a new residential centre for the mentally retarded at the former Canadian Forces Base near Picton. It was announced by the Honourable Thomas L. Wells, Ontario Minister of Health.

Married, with 3 children, 43 year old Mr. MacKenzie, will be responsible for the operation of what has been called "one of the most progressive centres of its kind in North America," located at the former Canadian Forces Base, Picton.

The new centre will provide up to 600 residents with accommodation in a community-like setting in the former married quarters and larger centralized living quarters.

Mr. Wells said the appointment is effective immediately.

A staff of 450 will be needed to operate the new training centre and as many as possible will be hired in the Picton area, Mr. Wells said.

Sixty-five houses have been allocated for 300 moderately and mildly retarded school children, as well as adults who can be rehabilitated. Larger, centralized living quarters will be used for accommodating and training the more severely retarded.

Full educational and recreational facilities will be provided.

"The emphasis will be placed on providing a home-like environment for residents, giving them many of the same opportunities and life experiences enjoyed by people of the larger community," Mr. Wells said.

"Our new facility at Picton will enable us to put this thinking into practice more effectively than anywhere else on the continent."

A SMILE OR TWO

Who says there's no humor in Canada's weekly press?

Here's a good sample of a fresh and funny column from Claude S.Q. Floodgates' Lions Gate Times B.C.:

An English lady, making plans to visit Switzerland for Christmas holidays, wrote to a country hotel for a room reservation. She ended the letter saying, as she Britishly phrased it, that she preferred accommodation as close as possible to a "W.C." (water closet or toilet). The innkeeper's English was sparse, so he took the letter to his friend, the parish priest, and asked his help with the interpretation of "W.C." The priest mullied this over a long time and then finally the dawn broke: I've got it! — of course she means our Wayside Chapel."

Very pleased to have the problem solved, the innkeeper hastened to write to the English lady.

Dear Madam:

It is with great pleasure I am able to inform you that we have a lovely room reserved for your visit and that there is indeed a W.C. to attend to your devotions. It is located only two miles from the inn in a beautiful grove of pine trees which gives a feeling of serenity to the visitor. We will be most pleased to arrange transportation for you during your stay with us.

It may surprise you to know that our W.C. holds over 200 people at a sitting and for the convenience of tourists it is open on Thursdays as well as Saturdays. It is a good idea to go early as possible in order to get a good seat as sometimes standing room only is available, which is especially hard on some of the older ladies. On Sundays a good number of people take picnic lunches to the W.C. and make a day of it, while others take a bus or a horse carriage and usually arrive only just in time. I would recommend Madam arrange to go on Thursday evenings when there are no regular services but there is organ accompaniment. Although the W.C. dates back to the 12th century, the acoustics are excellent and even the most delicate sounds may be heard in the halls.

It may also interest you to know that our daughter first met her future husband, who was guest at the hotel, in the W.C. and they were later married there by our parish priest. We are very proud of our unusual bell, donated by a wealthy visitor, which rings every time someone makes an offering. Unfortunately my wife has a rather delicate condition and so she has not been able to attend regularly; as a matter of fact, it is almost a year now since she last went. It grieves her very much not to be able to go more often, as you can imagine.

In conclusion, we hope your stay with us will be most happy, so please let me know if you wish a special seat reserved for you for the season at the W.C. There is a small service charge but it will ensure you an upholstered seat. We also suggest you bring your camera as the evening candle lighting ceremony in the W.C. is very colorful, and it's a beautiful sight to see the light playing on the fountains.

Some come with cheer — some with charity — but all leave satisfied!

THE INNKEEPER

SENIOR CITIZENS

The regular meeting of Madoc and District senior citizens club was held on Wednesday, March 3rd at the United Church basement. President, Mrs. Broadworth spoke a word of welcome to all and the meeting opened with the Lord's prayer repeated in unison. Mrs. Broadworth read a suitable poem. The minutes of the previous meeting were read by secretary, Miss Raney.

Roll call was answered by 34 members. Due to illness, Mr. Foresetell has been forced to resign and Mr. Johns has been chosen treasurer in his place. A note was read from the family of the late Mr. Bosley, thanking our club for the donation made to the heart fund in his memory. Mrs. Wright thanked the members for their kindness when she was sick. As this week is Education week, Mr. Murphy has kindly invited us to visit the Public School on Thursday afternoon. Mrs. Broadworth suggested we meet at the church at 2 o'clock. Our next meeting will be held on St. Patrick's Day, March 17th. The roll call for that meeting is "name a place in Ireland" and each member is to wear something green.

The remainder of the afternoon was spent in playing various games.

The hostesses served refreshments and a social half hour was enjoyed.

Don't forget our next meeting, March 17th at the usual time and place.

TO THE WARDENS, MAYORS AND REEVES OF MUNICIPALITIES IN ONTARIO:

Dear Sir: With deep snow covering most of Ontario I wish to remind you that this represents a threat of considerable flooding along our rivers and streams should the spring break-up occur with a combination of high temperatures and rain. The prevalence of thick river ice is also a matter of concern as ice jams can develop quickly and unexpectedly causing severe local flooding.

It is therefore suggested that immediate attention be given to ensuring that your Municipal Council Committee on Emergency Planning has developed an operational procedure and is prepared to take action should the threat of flooding develop. The inventory of all equipment which can be made available quickly in the case of emergency, should be checked and up-dated. River Watchers, whose duty it will be to report the dangerous rise of the river to a central office, should be alerted to the need for careful attention in the event of rain or sudden thaw.

Those persons responsible for emergency flood action should maintain a careful watch on daily weather conditions. More detailed information regarding both weather and streamflow can be obtained from Mr. D. N. McMullen, Hydrometeorologist, Conservation Authorities Branch. He can be reached by telephone:

- during office hours at 365-6292 (area code 416) - after office hours and on Saturdays and Sundays at Cooksville 277-8618 (area code 416).

In the event of a serious flood, and you require Emergency Assistance, during weekdays (8:30 a.m. - 4:45 p.m.) call Toronto (area code 416) 365-6287 or 365-5980.

After hours call one of the following in Toronto:

N. D. Patrick, Director - 487-8340
J. W. Murray, Chief Engineer - 291-6626.

If unable to contact the above call: Telephone Operator, Queen's Park, Toronto - 363-1211.

When corresponding on any of these matters, please address:

Mr. N. D. Patrick, Director, Conservation Authorities Branch, Department of Energy and Resources Management, 880 Bay Street, Toronto 5, Ontario.

Yours very truly,
George A. Kerr, Q.C.

1. Q. I was unemployed for the whole of last year and was attending a Canada Manpower training course. I got a living allowance while on the course. Do I declare this allowance as income for taxation purposes?

A. Any allowance received from the Canada Manpower for special training is not considered to be income for income tax purposes.

2. Q. My daughter is a nursing student and receives a small salary. I have two questions. The first one, does she have to declare this as income for income tax purposes?

A. Yes, she does, the salary that is received by a nursing student is regarded as income for taxation purposes.

Q. Then does this mean that I will not be able to claim her as a dependant?

A. When you are calculating your daughter's income, to find out whether or not she qualifies as a dependant, the salary she received as a nursing student is not to be included.

3. Q. My house is in my wife's name. Recently we moved into an apartment and rented the house. Do I consider that the rent is her income for income tax purposes?

A. If you provided the funds to buy the house, the rent from the house is your income and should be reported by you. If however the house was purchased with funds provided by your wife, the rent would be your wife's income and should be reported on her income tax return. If you both provided the funds, the income should be split between you for tax purposes.

DR. W. A. MACKINTOSH FORMER MADOCER DIES

Word was received this week that William Archibald Mackintosh, 75, principal of Queen's University from 1951 to 1961, died Tuesday, December 29, 1970, in Kingston General Hospital. He had suffered a stroke a few days previously.

A special funeral service was held in Grant Hall, Queen's, with the university chaplain, Rev. Dr. A. M. Laverty, officiating.

"Dr. Mackintosh was one of the most distinguished Canadians of his generation", present Queen's Principal, Dr. John J. Deutsch said in a statement. "He was a brilliant graduate of Queen's who devoted his great talents to the university over the period of 50 years as a teacher, administrator, principal and trustee."

When Dr. Mackintosh became the 11th principal of Queen's and vice-chancellor in 1951, he was the first Queen's graduate to hold the post in the 110-year history of the university. (Dr. Deutsch is the second Queensman to become principal.)

Dr. Mackintosh was also the first principal in 90 years to advance from a teaching post to head the university. Though he ended his ten-year term in this office in 1961, he remained as vice-chancellor until 1965. And he was, until his death, one of two vice-chairmen of the Queen's board of trustees.

Outside his long affiliation with Queen's, Dr. Mackintosh was celebrated as one of Canada's most powerful government policy advisers during wartime and post-war period. He was honoured by King George VI for his services to the Allied cause in the Second World War with the order commander of St. Michael and St. George.

As a scholar, economist and administrator, Dr. Mackintosh was well-known throughout the English-speaking world. He received honorary degrees from at least ten universities, including Queen's, and was a Fellow of the Royal Society of Canada.

"He was one of Canada's leading economists who made significant contributions to economic scholarship in Just three years ago, Dr. Mackintosh was awarded the Order of Canada Medal by Governor-General Roland Michener, and the year before he received the Canada Council Medal, one of the nation's highest awards in the arts, humanities and social sciences.

Born here at Madoc in 1895, the son of a pioneer Ontario educator, Inspector William Mackintosh, he was educated at Madoc High School and St. Andrew's College, Toronto.

He entered Queen's University at age 17 and was an outstanding student, graduating four years later with an M.A. Degree in history and political science.

Dr. Mackintosh went to Harvard University the next year for post-graduate work and then spent two years teaching economics at Brandon College in Manitoba, before returning to Harvard to work toward a Ph.D.

Dr. Mackintosh received his doctorate in economics from Harvard in 1922. Between 1939 and 1946 he had special leave from Queen's to serve as special assistant to the deputy minister of finance.

After his return, he became dean of arts at Queen's and in 1947, was appointed vice-principal. He was also and head of the Department of Economics, until he was made principal.

Dr. Mackintosh held a number of important government positions almost continuously from 1926 to 1951.

Dr. Mackintosh is survived by his wife, the former Jean Easton, a daughter, Mrs. I. G. (Allison) Morgan of Chicago, and a sister, Helen Mackintosh of Brantford.

Interment was in Cataract Cemetery.

IN MEMORIAM

HOLMES — In loving memory of William Holmes, who passed away March 14, 1970.

His smiling way and pleasant face
Are a pleasure to recall;
He had a kindly word for each
And died beloved by all.
Some day we hope to meet him,
Some day, we know not when,
To clasp his hand in the better land,
Never to part again.
Ever remembered by grandchildren,
Betty and Floyd, and great granddaughter, Elizabeth.

HOLMES — In loving memory of William Holmes who passed away March 14, 1970.

God took him home, it was His will,
But in our hearts we love him still:
His memory is as dear today
As in the hour he passed away.
We often sit and think of him
When we are all alone,
For memory is the only friend
That grief can call its own.
Ever remembered by daughter and son-in-law, Allan and Isabella Sager.

HOLMES — In memory of a dear husband, William Holmes, who passed away March 14th, 1970.

He is gone but not forgotten
And, as dawn's another year,
In my lonely hours of thinking,
Thoughts of him are always near.
Days of sadness will o'er me,
Many think the wound is healed,
But they little know the sorrow
That lies in the heart concealed.
Lovingly remembered and sadly missed by wife Isabella.

In 1971 the Canadian Council on 4-H Clubs celebrates its 40th anniversary.
The objectives of this non-profit organization are summarized as follows:
1. To serve as the vehicle for the performance of 4-H projects and Canadian services.
2. To provide a channel through which government, business and other organizations can support the 4-H program.
3. To facilitate liaison and exchange of information among the provinces.
4. To serve as a medium through which the basic and fundamental principles of the 4-H program may be developed and maintained.
While May 16, 1931, is recorded as the date when the Canadian Council on Boys and Girls Club Work (renamed Canadian Council on 4-H Clubs in 1952) was established, the origin of the program can be traced, through authentic documentation, to the year 1913.

During the period from 1924 to 1930, award trips to the Royal Winter Fair were provided by the two railway companies, the need for a national organization to correlate and to administer club work at the national level became apparent. Accordingly a meeting was held in Toronto on November 20, 1930, to consider a logical course to follow, with attendance from the departments of agriculture, federal and provincial, and co-operating business concerns.

Operations of the new organization commenced officially on May 16, 1931, with the first annual meeting held on November 18 of the same year. Subsequently, the Council was granted incorporation on September 13, 1933, by the Department of Secretary of State, Ottawa.

The original members of the Council were the Government of Canada, 9 provincial governments and national business organizations. Today the Council has grown to a membership comprised of the Government of Canada, 10 provincial governments, 46 national business organizations and 14 non-profit associations.

The 40th annual meeting of the Canadian Council on 4-H Clubs will be held from May 17 - 21, 1971, in Victoria, British Columbia, on the occasion of that province's centennial year.

TWO GAMES TO ONE

Travelling to Brighton last Wednesday evening, the Madoc Intermediates were downed by Gosport in the second game of the Trent Valley League O.H.A. semi-finals.

Spare goalie, Dale Benson, in the net for the night, played an excellent game.

The first half of the opening period went scoreless, Gosport serving two holding penalties during that time.

The local boys scored the first goal of the game at the 12:26 minute mark, Harold Bailey tallying, on an assist of Bob Bartsch and Terry Chapman. Within ten seconds, at the 12:35 mark, Bob Bartsch, assisted by Jerry Chapman and Terry Chapman, whipped their second goal in. Gosport replied with only one goal, at the 14:44 mark. Terry Chapman answered at the 16 minute mark, assisted by B. Bartsch and J. Chapman, and just 15 seconds later, Terry McGregor shot the final goal of the period, leaving Madoc with a 4-1 lead at the close of the period. Ralph Francis picked up an assist on this goal. The local team played a very serious period of hockey, with no penalties (which sure makes a difference on the score board!)

Early in the second period, Jerry Chapman was given a two-minute penalty for elbowing, and Gosport took advantage of Madoc's short-handedness. At the 3:07 mark, they scored their first goal of the period. They tallied again at the 7:18 and 10:47 marks, while Doug Phillips was in the penalty box on a two-minute roughing and a five-minute fighting count, bringing the score up to a 4-4 tie. Gosport was serving a five-minute fighting penalty when this last goal was scored. At the 12:16 mark, T. Chapman went to the box for two minutes for interference and at the 18:25 mark, B. Chapman was given two minutes for boarding, which only proves, they can't score while sitting in there.

The final stanza went scoreless, with three penalties handed out. Bob Chapman went off for two minutes at the 12:01 mark for roughing, and was joined by J. Chapman at the 13:23 mark, who was sent in for tripping. Gosport served a two-minute hooking penalty at the 15:52 mark.

Going into an overtime period, Madoc met with a difficulty when they lost Jerry Chapman to the penalty box, after just 27 seconds of play. However, they put up a strong defensive and no goal was scored against them until all men were back on the ice. Gosport tallied at the 4:40 mark, and Ralph Francis, assisted by Glen Graham, answered at the 6:11 mark. Following half a minute later, Harold Bailey, assisted by Bob Bartsch, scored Madoc's final goal of the night. While the Madoc supporters were anxiously awaiting the time to run out, Gosport whipped one in at the 8:16 mark, bringing the score to another tie, and then scored the winning goal at the 10:45 mark, giving them a final victory of 7-6, and bringing the series to a one-game tie.

Playing at home on Sunday afternoon, the Intermediates defeated Gosport in the third game of the series, 7-5.

Ralph Francis, unassisted, opened the scoring at the 4:38 minute mark in the first period. Glen Graham whipped a second one in at the 5:18

mark, assisted by R. Francis and T. McGregor. Bill Quick of Gosport put in their only goal of the period just five minutes later. Francis tallied again at the 11:01 mark on an assist of G. Graham, who, in turn, scored an unassisted goal three and a half minutes after, bringing Madoc to a 4-1 lead at the end of this period. Four penalties were served by the local team during the first period and only one of the four goals was scored while playing short-handed, which again, only goes to show that a player isn't much help to his team when sitting in the penalty box. Gosport served only one penalty during the period.

Gosport scored two unanswered goals in the second stanza, but the locals had lost four players, each on two-minute counts, to the penalty box, compared to Gosport's one. The score at the close of this period was 4-3 for Madoc.

Realizing the disadvantages of playing short-handed, Madoc played the third period completely without penalty. Gosport served three two-minute terms in this period. At the 4:29 mark, Francis scored on an assist of G. Graham and the two repeated a score at the 4:45 mark. The opponents answered both of these goals, at the 6:34 and 7:31 marks, causing much excitement in the crowd, and before half-time, at 12:09, Terry McGregor, assisted by Francis, scored the final goal of the game.

Hats off to Ralph Francis for an excellent game, who scored four of the seven goals, and assisted on two others.

The following is a summary of the penalties served by the two teams during this game:-

First Period
5:35 - D. Chapman, No. 9, Madoc, 2 minutes, tripping;

The fourth game of the series will be played in Brighton tonight at 8:15 p.m. Madoc is leading the series two games to one and the boys are wished all the best of luck tonight and in the games to come. Saturday night they return to Brighton for an eight o'clock game. If another game is necessary, it will be played this Sunday at home. Listen to the Belleville radio for the game and time announcements.

A pair of goals by Steven Johnson and Stewart Carswell led the Madoc Legionaire Pee-Wees to a 9-3 win over Norwood. The win gave Madoc the series, two games to none and the right to meet Powassan or Haldimand in the Ontario semi-finals.

In the other quarter-final series, Powassan (south of North Bay) and Haldimand are tied one game each in a best two out of three series. Powassan won 7-5 in Powassan, while Hal-burton won 6-2 in Haldimand. The third game is scheduled for Powassan on Monday, March 15th.

Madoc, meanwhile, will try to keep a shape with exhibition games with possibly Marmora and Picton. The further we go the more support we need. Be a Legionaire Pee-Wee Booster. The next series will probably start the weekend of March 20th.

ELDORADO CHEESE AND BUTTER CO-OP SUMS UP YEAR'S WORK

The Annual Meeting of the Eldorado Cheese and Butter Co-Op. was held in the Madoc Township Hall on Saturday, February 27th. There were approximately 65 in attendance, including Messrs. Lee Grills, M.P.; Clarke T. Rollins, M.L.A.; Keith Hubbs, Dairy Fieldman; Allen Ketcheson, Member of the O.M.M.B.; Percy Rowe, local Bank Manager; Phil Cockburn, Accountant; Ken Thompson, President of Maple Dale Cheese Co.; and the guest speaker, Prof. Chas. MacGregor.

President, Don McKinnon, welcomed everyone to the meeting and expressed great pleasure that a large number took an interest in the Company's activities. He reviewed the operations during the year, explaining all purchases of equipment. He was well satisfied with the increase in the retail department.

Mr. Ketcheson referred to the long term he has been connected with the dairy industry and the Eldorado Cheese Co-Op. Problems confronting the dairy industry the last few years were not known to everyone. The Minister of Agriculture had the foresight to do something about it. A Producer Quota System was established to regulate the balance between production and consumption. As this was regulated, some plants began to complain of their milk supply being curtailed to beyond the point of successful operation. As this was realized, Plant Quotas were established, which was based on 90 per cent of their 1969 supply. The O.M.M.B. would then guarantee all 92 per cent of their quota for 1970. This might vary from year to year, according to the amount of milk available in Ontario. As the Marketing Board was interested in the producers receiving as big a percentage of the consumers dollar as possible, all processors had to pay a set price for their milk, according to the product manufactured. Some plants found it difficult to operate on the margin between revenue and expense and therefore decided to dissolve. To assist these plants, a phasing out program of 10c a cwt. for their quota was set up. With this revenue and the sale of their quota to other plants, all liabilities would be taken care of. The increase in the price of cheese in the late 1970 season relieved the pressure of operating plants. To prevent the overproduction of cheese, the support price of milk powder was increased.

LOCAL and PERSONAL

Mr. and Mrs. George Moorcroft spent last Tuesday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Broadworth, Stirling.

RABBIT BREEDERS HOLD MEETING

On Saturday, March 6, 1971, the first meeting of local Rabbit Breeders was held at Budd's Rabbit Ranch, R.R. No. 1, Eldorado. To assist the local breeders in organizing as a Unit of the Central Ontario Rabbit Club was the President, Mr. Art Kamminga, Past President, Mr. Elmer Huggins who is also the area representative of the Canadian Council of Rabbit Clubs a Canada wide organization. Mrs. Bea Huggins, secretary of Central Ontario Rabbit Breeders was also present and read to local breeders the constitution of C.O.R.B.C. Local Rabbit breeders present were, Joe and Doris Craft of Stirling, Wayne and Jean Blackburn of Eldorado, Ernie Tronick of Black River Rd., Tweed, John Hutton of Eldorado, Garn and Joyce Budd of Eldorado.

A unit was formed with Garn Budd as director and Joyce Budd Secretary. In approximately a years time a separate club will probably be formed in the Hastings county area.

The director and members would like to welcome anyone in the area interested in raising rabbits either as a paying hobby or a larger Commercial enterprise. A firm stable market seems to be assured to all rabbit breeders. Anyone interested may contact any of the above listed members and they will then be advised of our next local meeting. The aims of our group is to help educate Rabbit Breeders and to assist new comers to the industry.

After the business was taken care of a lunch was served by Joyce Budd and a social time was spent with questions and answers to rabbit problems and of course a few rabbit stories were exchanged.

Outstanding Educators Named For Central Hastings School Area

Mrs. Florence McCoy, Principal of the Madoc Township Central School, and Mr. Wesley Hamilton, former Principal of the Tweed-Hungerford District High School, and now retired, were both given honourable recognition for their outstanding contribution to education at the Educator's dinner in the cafeteria of Centre Hastings Secondary School last Wednesday night. The dinner was held as a highlight to the "Education Week" activities of the combined Tweed, Marmora and Madoc school areas, including both separate and public elementary schools and the large central secondary school.

About 225 students, teachers, parents and interested citizens were in attendance to enjoy the bounteous turkey dinner, prepared by Mrs. Kate Kincaid and her staff and to witness the presentation to these two capable educators.

In a brief thank-you Mrs. McCoy said it was with deep humility that she received the award because she felt "no one should get an award when they love the job as much as she does". Among those she expressed special thanks to for all their assistance through the years, Mrs. McCoy mentioned her husband for his untiring efforts to see that she always got off to school on time in the mornings.

Mr. Hamilton commented that were it not for the wonderful fellow teachers and the marvelous young people he has worked with, he could not have earned the award.

It was originally intended that one outstanding educator be picked from the central area of Hastings, but when the nominations were received, the many fine tributes in favour of both Mr. Hamilton and Mrs. McCoy made it impossible for the judges to make a choice.

Born Florence Blaney at Maxville in Glengary County, Mrs. McCoy attended Ottawa Teacher's College and has spent a lifetime in the teaching profession. She has taught in one-room eight-grade schools in Madoc Township and in the Tweed Public School. About ten years ago, when all public schools in Madoc Township were consolidated into Madoc Township Central School, she became its first Principal and has continued in that capacity ever since. She will complete her Bachelor's Degree from Queen's University this year. In the nominations received for Mrs. McCoy, some of her outstanding characteristics mentioned were her unique management capabilities and the personal interest she has in the individual student - a rare characteristic in the increasingly-busy teaching world today - and her dedication toward obtaining the highest possible standards of education at the elementary level.

Mr. Wes Hamilton, whose father spent 40 years in the teaching profession, taught in Dundas, and Essex and has served as Principal of Marmora High School before going to Tweed. He has spent 32 years teaching, 20 of which were as Principal of the Tweed school. Mr. Hamilton has been enjoying his retirement years at his home in Tweed ever since the closing of the school there. He was noted for his basic honesty in motivating the pupils and for his good Christian principles which he practiced as well as enforced in the disciplinary rules of the school.

The CHSS band, now in its second year, played before and during the banquet, under the leadership of music teacher, William Alyswoth.

The tenure of the evening featured a brief message from Director of Education, Eric Runacres, who told those assembled for the banquet that "the finest assets of this county, after its children, are its teachers."

Following the meal and the presentations, those in attendance were favoured with some very interesting entertainment from each school in Centre Hastings.

First on the agenda was the delightful singing by the "Quintones", who were working under a difficulty due to the absence of one member, Doug Phillips. However, the boys who made it out for the performance, namely Jack Wood, Cliff Derry, Larry Stickwood and Robert Taylor, directed and accompanied by Miss L. West, did an excellent job and their selections were enjoyed by all. The Quintones were in representation of the Madoc Township Central School, who all, at one time, had had Mrs. McCoy as a teacher.

The grade five and six students of the Madoc Public School displayed amazing harmony in "Yesterday" and "Born Free", two very difficult tunes, when they sang before the crowd. Their performance was got up completely on their own, without any direction of a teacher, and they are to be complimented on this independent endeavour. Also from this school, Marie Donaldson gave her prize-winning speech on "Humour".

The Tweed Senior Public School girls' folk singing, directed by Miss C. Sharpe, was very much enjoyed by all.

More folk singing by two sisters and two cousins (girls) led by Ron Lavallee represented St. Catharagh's School, Tweed. It was truly amazing the way this boy could sing, play, and involve the audience.

Three young boys of Grades seven and eight from Marmora displayed wonderful talent with their country and western type musical pieces.

Everyone thoroughly enjoyed the local talent entertainment which followed this meal and it is hoped many more will take advantage of the get-together in the years to come, as this was a first for a hopefully annual event.

Mr. John Murphy, who made arrangements for the meal and who acted as m.c. after, is to be commended for a very successful evening. The entertainment had been prepared and arranged by Mr. Robert Taylor, whose work was equally well done.

Mrs. Arthur Acorn of Marmora was one of the many parents who attended "Parent's Day" at C.H.S.S. last week, in connection with Education Week activities. Above centre, she is learning the procedures taken in running a urinalysis for glucose, lactose and normal urine by teacher, Mr. Karren P. Raghubir and grade 13 student, Ted Bronson. Pupils were encouraged to bring their parents to school with them. A nursery had been set up at C.H.S.S. to care for younger children and a coffee room was in operation all day. Parents were urged to stay for lunch in the cafeteria at noon.

A Man's Best Friend?

Constable Arthurs and his police dog, Sabre, of the Belleville Detachment, Ontario Provincial Police, as they prepare to leave for home after a very exciting day of visiting at the area schools. Demonstrating the dog's unique obedience to his master's commands, they have delighted youngsters with their appearance at Actinolite, Madoc Township, Gilmore, Marmora Junior and Senior and Marmora Separate Schools. This morning they visited the Madoc Public School and this afternoon, Const. Arthurs and Sabre will be at Centre Hastings Secondary School here. Through his school safety program, Constable Bob Hawley of the Madoc Detachment, accompanied the two on their tour. Whether Sabre is man's best friend depends on which side of the law you're on, and judging from the size of him, good behaviour would appear a wise move.

ONLY HALF THE LIST OF SMILEY'S TROUBLES

By BILL SMILEY

March is a time for madness in this country. I have lain on the grass with a girl in March, studying for exams. And I have waded through snow up to the belly-button, in the same month. This is enough to make Canadians a bit more psychotic than other nations.

March is as unpredictable as a pregnant female, as precocious as an eccentric old man. "Mad as a March hare" is no flight of the imagination. You don't have to be mad in March.

All you have to do is look at the body of your car, at what the salt and sand have done to it, and you get mad.

All you have to be is a mother with soaking, muddy small children tromping in and out, and you get mad.

All you have to do is total your fuel bill, and you know you are out of your mind to live in such a climate.

All it takes is a note from a friend in the south, who asks how high the snowbanks still are, and says he expects to come home about the first of May.

All you need to do is think of next month, and realize that the average Canadian gives up a third of his income in taxes, and you can go right around the bend.

Our nerves are stretched to the snapping point by the rigours of the last four months, and it doesn't take much to break us. Even a little thing like forgetting to get your license plates before the deadline, or forgetting to pay your hydro bill in time for the discount, can make the most stable of us crack and go roaring after the nearest person with the nearest blunt instrument.

I haven't quite blown a gasket yet, but I can feel the pressure building up. My wife has been off her oats since Christmas. Having two kids in University is like walking around with two large leeches clinging to you. Half a dozen people want me to speak to a similar number of completely dissimilar groups all over the geography.

I have a hundred letters to write. My boss is bugging me for a detailed plan for a new workroom for my department, and I couldn't design the interior of an outhouse. I'm in charge of two public speaking contests, both with looming deadlines.

The cat did it again on the floor last night and is going to the glue factory if it happens once more. The C.N.R. has phoned five times to tell me I owe them $1.09, which was their mistake in the first place. The guy who shovels my drive with his plow has put his rates up fifty per cent.

I have sixty essays, seventy-five tests, and one hundred and thirty exam papers to mark. I have stubbed the second-littlest toe on my right foot and the nail is dangling by a painful bit of gristle or something.

I missed two crucial shots and lost out on the big prize in the last curling bonspiel. The lock on the bathroom door has been gone since Christmas and people keep getting locked in, instead of out.

So, all in all, if you hear a small

"POP" one of these days, it won't be the wax in your ears cracking. It'll be little, insignificant me.

There, I know there's nothing more boring than other people's troubles. But I've got about half of them off my chest. And you must feel better to know that someone in the world has as many troubles as you.

And of course there are some things on the black ink side of the ledger, too. There's the "winter break" as they now call what used to be the Easter holidays. A whole week in which to do nothing but mark exam papers.

There's the prospect, in about six weeks, of getting the leeches off my back (and into the unemployment lines).

And there's the sheer pleasure of not getting up in the dark every workday. The sun shines, waterily and occasionally. There's a glimmer of hope that that peculiarly Canadian monster — winter —, having vented his orgy of rage, is beginning to die of sheer emotional exhaustion.

Unless the old brute throws one more senile but devastating blow at us.

Letter to the Editor

March 5th, 1971.

Mr. Maurice Goulah,
North Hastings Review,
P.O. Box 460,
Madoc, Ontario.

Dear Mr. Goulah:

Heart Month in Canada is now over, and on behalf of the Canadian Heart Fund, Ontario Division, please accept our sincerest appreciation for your co-operation and assistance during our financial campaign in February.

Our objective this year was $1,050,000, and although all returns are not in, we are quite hopeful that our objective will be attained — even surpassed.

Without your willing co-operation in communicating our needs to the public, the Canadian Heart Fund would not be able to express such an outlook.

Heart disease is everyone's problem — and again our thanks for helping us bring to the attention of the public that — research should be everyone's responsibility.

With best wishes,
Yours very truly,

CANADIAN HEART FUND
(Ontario Division)
Miss Esther M. Richards,
Director of Public Relations.

To the Editor:

Miss Foley I would like to take a moment to thank you so much for taking your time to come to our school and talk about printing. I found it very interesting I'm sure many others did, too. Thank you very much.

Yours truly,
Shelly Duffin.

Brickbat for bridegroom

OTTAWA — This is a little early after the wedding to start throwing brickbats at the bridegroom, but the subject for today seems to warrant it.

On April 30, the Government's Temporary Public Order Act, passed by Parliament to control violence of separatist radicals in Quebec, will run out.

The Government said at the time of the lengthy Parliamentary session that temporary legislation that plans called for a permanent law to deal with civil disorder before the temporary one expired.

So far, there has not been the slightest hint that the Government has this promised law ready for Parliament, and that is cause for concern. The way things stand, even if such a draft law was unveiled tomorrow, Parliament would never pass it in time.

Such a law permanently enshrined in the statutes of Canada deserves careful scrutiny from Parliament and lengthy debate if the Opposition wants it.

And yet, by the end of April there may be an urgent need for that piece of legislation.

I've talked to several people who are extremely knowledgeable about the currents of feeling in Quebec, and they predict that there will be an outburst of some sort in the province in early May, when the Temporary Public Order Act expires.

If the bombs begin exploding in early May, or if — God forbid — there is another kidnapping, the Government could have no alternative but to invoke the War Measures Act again.

Perhaps I've got a nasty suspicious mind — I hope that's all it is — but from appearance, the Government intends to bring in this promised permanent legislation at the last minute, then blame the Opposition if it hasn't passed Parliament in time.

So there, Mr. Prime Minister, is my brickbat. If such is the Government plot, then it is certainly clever, but is it fair or is it in the best interests of the country?

Surely the thing could be handled in a much more effective manner if that law to deal with civil unrest could be unveiled a little early. If there are difficulties with provincial consultation, why not at least expose the Federal proposals to discussion in a Parliamentary committee?

If, on the other hand, the delay is part of a plot to nail the Opposition with a charge of obstructionism in Parliament, forget it. That one is very transparent.

By this time, every columnist in the country has had his whacks at Pierre Trudeau's wedding, but I'd like to add a few belated words to the reams already written.

One of the best one-upmanship plays I've seen in a long time took place the Friday after Mr. Trudeau's Thursday wedding in Vancouver. Scene — a formal dance with almost everybody who matters in Ottawa there. The line . . . very 'casually delivered, with bomb-shell effect:

"I'm so terribly tired," said the young lady. "I didn't get home from Vancouver until early this morning."

What a sensation that caused. You could follow the whispered progress of the play all over the room as heads turned to stare.

In the Press Gallery, news of the wedding blasted many reporters out of bed with office demands for reaction from Cabinet ministers. Four a.m. is no time to call a Cabinet minister if you want to keep his friendship, but duty is duty.

The entire Cabinet — even acting Prime Minister Mitchell Sharp — was taken by surprise.

Once things settled down, there was a happy well-wishing atmosphere of relief shared universally by the Press Gallery. No more wild weekends trying to track down the PM and his latest girlfriend; no more counting his kissing cousins.

General observation on the wedding . . . he did it with real class and all our best wishes go with him. Those who accuse him of a gigantic political play through matrimony are plain stupid.

The wedding of the century in Canada may make things difficult for political opponents, but its likely to round off a few rough edges on Pierre Trudeau much to the benefit of the country.

COVERS EXTENDED AREA

The Department of Highways official road map for 1971 shows an area of the Province's northland extending 210 miles farther north than any previous map issued by the department. Included within this area is the Polar Bear Provincial Park - Ontario's largest Provincial Park - covering 9,300 square miles, located on the west shore of James Bay and Hudson Bay.

On the Southern Ontario side the Regional Municipality of York and the new District of Muskoka are outlined. One of the panel maps shows Burlington, Oakville and Mississauga, the last named for the first time.

HUNTING SEASONS FOR 1971-72

Lands and Forests Minister, Rene Brunelle, has announced Ontario's deer and moose seasons for 1971 and 1972.

Most deer seasons are similar to those of 1970. The major change is in North Bay District where a small area will be closed to hunting. The purpose of this closure is to see whether a few years rest will improve deer numbers in an area where they have not responded satisfactorily to improvement of their winter range.

Non-residents have been excluded from deer hunting in Northeastern Ontario with the exception of part of Sault Ste. Marie District.

The deer season in the major deer hunting area of southeastern Ontario, north of Highway 7 and south of North Bay and Sudbury Forest Districts and including also the southern portion of Sault Ste. Marie Forest District but excluding Manitoulin Island is as follows:-

There will be a season for residents and non-residents from: Monday, November 1 to Saturday, November 13, 1971. Monday, November 6 to Saturday, November 18, 1972.

Decisions concerning southern Ontario moose seasons are based on information from the previous hunting season and counts of moose from the air during winter. Since these are not yet completed, no statement about future seasons is possible at this time.

Notice Of Meeting To Consider By-Law

Take notice that a by-law for raising $40,000 under the Provisions of the Tile Drainage Act, will be taken into Consideration by the Council of the Township of Huntingdon, at the Township Hall on the 19th day of April, 1971, at the hour of 8 o'clock in the afternoon.

W. J. CLAYTON WRIGHT, Clerk.

A scene from a bygone era. Both horses and pails have given away to more modern methods of getting the maple sap from the tree to the evaporating pan.

Smiling faces and sticky fingers-a wait for maple taffy, sap straight has arrived. These children couldn't sure sign that maple syrup season from the tree does for now.

MAPLE SYRUP SEASON SOON HERE

Longer days and milder temperatures herald the return of spring and with it, the maple syrup season. Maple Syrup season gives many people a chance to get out into the country to various festivals and see how the traditional treat is prepared.

Maple syrup is exclusively North American, produced in states and provinces surrounding the Great Lakes and St. Lawrence basins. In the U.S., this includes 11 of the northeastern states, as far west as Minnesota, and, in Canada, the provinces of Nova Scotia, New Brunswick, Quebec, and Ontario.

Maple syrup has been known since the days of the earliest settlers, and undoubtedly originated with the Indians. One legend claims that maple syrup was discovered long ago when some braves were practicing tomahawk throwing. One is said to have hit a maple tree, and from the gash flowed a clear liquid. An Indian woman on her way to get water rested by the tree, and saw the liquid collected on a piece of bark. Instead of continuing to the spring for water, she returned with the liquid and used it to cook her venison. Her brave was delighted with the taste of the meat, and was told about the "sweet water" from the tree. The sap of the maple continued to be known as sweet water and was often used to cook meat.

For the early Canadian settler, maple syrup and products like maple butter and maple sugar and taffy were a welcome source of sugar. Sap as it comes from the tree contains an average of about 2.4% sugar. It takes approximately 35 gallons of this sap to make a gallon of maple syrup. The entire process consists of evaporating the excess water. By law the syrup may be called maple only when it contains a maximum of 35% water.

Modern technology has made inroads in even the most traditional of events, and sugaring time is no exception. Originally, the sap was collected in birch bark buckets. Later a trough made from a log was used, then wooden and finally metal buckets. Today a modern producer uses a network of plastic pipes to gather the sap directly from the trees into a storage tank.

Sap evaporation methods have also changed. Early settlers used large iron kettles, then a flat-bottomed pad with an enclosed fire box. The modern evaporator consists of a flue pan and a flat pan set over an arch made of metal or clinder block. Even the fuel source is changing. Usually it is wood which is readily available. However, high labor costs made wood very expensive. So more producers are changing to oil-fired stoves.

In 1968, Canada produced about 3 million gallons of maple syrup. Ontario's share amounted to about 10%. However, The Ontario Department of Lands and Forests estimates we have about 70 million tappable trees. At present, only about a million are tapped. Walt Humphries, the maple syrup extension specialists with the Ontario Department of Agriculture and Food, says this potential means production could easily quadruple without making a significant dent in the vast resource.

When the sap starts flowing, usually in early April, it is the occasion for maple syrup festivals which attract thousands. There, the visitors can eat pancakes topped with butter and maple syrup or buy syrup, sugar or taffy made right on the spot.

The largest maple syrup festival in Ontario is held in Elmira, near Kitchener-Waterloo. Last year about 40,000 visitors attended. As well as consuming the delicious products, they have an opportunity to see how they are made, and perhaps even to participate in an old-fashion taffy-pull!

For those people who do need an excuse to spend a sun-filled day in the country, the first week-ends in April are ideal. As well as food and fun they give the added benefit of participation in a page of Canada's history.

CENTRE HASTINGS SECONDARY SCHOOL WORK EXPERIENCE

Each year for the past six years, the merchants of Centre Hastings Villages Marmora, Madoc, Tweed, Thomasburg, Springbrook and Stirling, as well as Campbellford have participated in a Work Experience programme of "on-the-job" training for Special Education students. The total programme is one month, however students go to "Work" for two weeks at one time. The first session is in December and the second is in March. This year the programme has coincided with our Education Week activities.

The chief aims of this programme are:

1. To develop acceptable social skills and improvements in attitude to society, employers and work.
2. To give knowledge of working conditions and job opportunities in the community.
3. To develop discrimination and appreciation of quality in products and in workmanship.
4. To acquaint prospective employers and the public with the training given and the type of person coming on the labour market from school.
5. To provide an extension of and supplement to the facilities and instruction in the school: facilities and conditions difficult, if not impossible to duplicate in the school itself.

All boys and girls in the Special Education who have passed their sixteenth birthday are eligible to go out to "work". This year, however, we have lacked a few situations for

ELDORADO 4-H HOMEMAKING CLUB

The first meeting of the Eldorado 4-H Homemaking Club was held on Tuesday, February 23, at the home of the leader, Mrs. Eileen Wannamaker.

The business consisted of Election of Officers, choosing the Club name "The Eldorado Muffins", and a discussion of Record Books and Files. At this meeting the members learned why they need Cereals for everyday eating, and made Frypan Cookies.

The second meeting was at the home of Sheila Johnson, on March 2nd. At this meeting members discussed the cereal grain, and various methods of cooking cereals. The Group work was making "Dogwoods", a Hamburg mixture served on hot dog buns.

Meeting three was held at the home of Nancy and Bonnie Blackburn on March 9th. The discussion was about the many different types of cereal products. For group work, the girls made "Nuts and Bolts", a cereal snack, and Cherry Bran Squares.

The students are responsible for their own actions during the work period. They must report for work at 9:00 a.m. and leave at 3:00 p.m. to get to buses for transportation home.

Arrangements are made between the employers and the school before students are placed. Each student is visited by a teacher during the work period. Assessments are made by the teacher, the student, and the employer.

Centre Hastings Secondary School is most pleased with the cordial cooperation of the merchants and employers in Central Hastings and we extend a hearty vote of thanks for their participation again this year.

INTERMEDIATES SEMI-FINAL CHAMPIONS

The Madoc Intermediates are half-way up the ladder to success! They showed the Ontario Hockey Association what real hockey players are made of when they took the best of seven series from Gosport in the semi-finals, four games to one. Playing the first game in Madoc, the Gosport squad was defeated 9-8 when they went into overtime. In Brighton, the second game saw the Madoc boys put up a hard fight, but lose 7-6 in an overtime period. Winning the third game at home 7-5 and the fourth and fifth at Brighton, with scores of 6-2 and 6-3 respectively, our boys have demonstrated what fine team co-operation and excellent sportsmanship can do.

The fourth game of the series was played last Wednesday night in Brighton with a large crowd of spectators from Madoc present to cheer the boys on to victory. Early in the first period, Gosport was handed a tripping penalty and Madoc took advantage of the short-handed team, whipping one in at the 2:51 mark. Ralph Francis tallied this only goal of the period, assisted by Terry McGregor and Doug Phillips. The remainder of the period went scoreless, the boys displaying good checking and excellent defensive work. The period ended with Madoc ahead 1-0. Each team had served one two-minute penalty after the goal was scored, but neither could break through the other's strong defense.

Fourteen seconds after the start of the second period, Glen Graham beat Gosport goalie at the net on an assist of R. Francis and Bob Chapman. Terry McGregor scored, assisted by R. Francis, before half-time in the period, and at the 17:06 mark, Bob Fawcett tallied Gosport's first of two goals of the game. Two minor penalties were served during the period, but none while the scoring occurred.

Opening the third period with a three to one lead for Madoc, each team served two penalties, but stuck to their guns in defence of their goalies. With all players back in motion, Madoc allowed Glen Quick of Gosport to sneak in for one goal, but sent a return attack in nineteen seconds later, when Terry Chapman scored, through the assistance of G. Donaldson. Two more goals were whipped in, each by Gord Donaldson, in the dying three minutes of the game. Gosport fans downheartedly left the arena with a 6-2 loss, and behind in the series, losing three games to one.

Two bus loads and a number of cars travelled to Brighton last Saturday night to observe one of the most exciting games of the season. If ever a crowd was stirred to the point of no return, it was at this game, when the dying seconds were being counted down in unison and a Madoc player got a lucky break, scoring the final goal with just one second remaining in the game!

Early in the first period, Gosport received a two-minute penalty, and despite all the hard efforts of the local boys, luck seemed to pass them by when Ron Hazelwood sneaked one in past our goalie, Blane Reynolds. Each team served two penalties during the period, and at the close, the opponents were in the lead, 1-0.

The high-spirited and encouraging fans cheered the boys to an early-period goal when R. Francis whipped one in, unassisted, at the 2:58 mark in the second period. The crowd grew even louder, one side of the arena echoing the other with shouts of enthusiasm. Midway through the period, Gosport's Bill Quick put his team back in the lead, two goals to one. A series of good checking and excellent shots on goal failed to bring either team another score by the end of the period, which left Gosport in the lead on the scoreboard.

In the third stanza, the spectators could feel the change, when the local boys stepped out on the ice and completely took over. Bringing the score to a 2-2 tie at the 3:03 mark, T. McGregor gave the boys the break they needed. R. Francis and B. Chapman picked up assists on this goal. Getting into real action, and with the excited shouts from the crowd, Ralph Francis scored an unassisted goal six minutes later, after some very hard playing. Two minutes after, he intercepted a pass from T. McGregor and shot in the goal that brought Madoc to a 4-1 lead. Francis whipped in another unassisted goal at the 14:25 mark and the crowd literally went wild. Following a minor scuffle among the spectators, the officials reverted the attention back to the ice for the remainder of the game. At the 18:45 mark, Bill Quick of Gosport scored their final goal of the game, making them only two goals behind the Ma-doc squad. For the last minute and a half, in an effort to tie the score up, Gosport pulled their goalie out of the net to give themselves an extra hand on the open ice. After much skating and exchange of possession, Gord Donaldson got a nice breakaway, darted through the opposition (who tried everything in their power to hold him off) and scored the final goal at the 19:59 mark. Almost instantaneously as the puck hit the back of the open net, the siren blew to mark the end of the game.

Congratulations to these hard-working lads for a well-played series!

With a team that plays so well together and with such strong line-ups, they can now enter the finals with every confidence for success. Bancroft had defeated Tweed in the other half of the series, also four games to one.

The first game of these final playoffs will be this evening (Wednesday) in Bancroft at 8:30. A bus will be leaving Kramp's Superstore for anyone wishing a ride. They will meet here for the second game this Friday night, March 19th, at 8:30 p.m.

The number of spectators that came out for the series with Gosport was exceptionally large, and with such exciting games being demonstrated, it is expected that the crowd will fill the arena to capacity for this series. If you want to get a place to sit, come out early. If you want to see some of the best hockey of the season — COME! Don't waste your time sitting home watching other games through a snowy, blurry tube. It could never match up to the real live action right here in our own arena.

The game was decided by the skips throwing a rock a piece to see who could draw closest to the center of the house. McFaul was the winner. Final score 6-5. A good close game in the first event. McFaul defeated J. Sheridan, N. Whytock and B. Bateman in his climb to the top, while Shaw defeated Maxwell, Fluke, Twiddy and McNamara in his climb up.

Maurice, with wife Marjorie, and Pat and Peggy Bertram were recipients of platform rockers, which were first prize in the bonspiel.

The king got konged

Billed as the fight of the century, the Cassius Clay-Joe Frazier battle at Madison Square Garden was all of that.

For once, the publicity on a fight was not exaggerated. Never in the history of heavy-weight boxing have two men thrown as many devastating punches as Frazier and Clay, alias Muhammad Ali.

Of course, never have two men been paid $2,500,000 each for 45 minutes work.

At those rates, most of us would gladly get our faces battered.

In all the pre-fight ballyhoo, much was made of Clay's great "ability" to predict the round the fight would end. Ever since he boastfully predicted that Ol' Archie Moore would fall in an hour (he did), the stories have spread that Clay was so good he could end a fight when he wanted.

It certainly looked that way in many of his bouts, particularly in the brutal 1965 beating of two-time champion Floyd Patterson. That fight in Las Vegas, Nev., saw Clay humiliate Patterson, refusing to put him away when he had the chance. Instead, he punished him just as he loudly proclaimed he would prior to the fight. Fortunately, Patterson went down in the 12th round.

Just prior to the start of the Clay-Frazier fight, while actor Burt Lancaster interviewed Clay for millions at theatres across the world, the great Ali was given the sealed envelope he deposited a week ago. Inside was his prediction: Frazier would fall in six.

When the sixth round came and went with no sign of the end for Joe, the magic that was Cassius started to go with the prediction.

There is no denying that the Clay of 1965-67 was a great fighter. But it is also true, as former great Joe Louis pointed out, that Clay had never been in against a tough, hard puncher who could move in on him.

And the doubters always liked to recall the first Sonny Liston fight when Clay pleaded with his handlers to throw in the towel. He claimed he was half-blinded by a substance on Liston's glove that had become imbedded in his eye. Marfager Angelo Dundee refused and Cassius went on to become the champ with a seventh round knockout. The knockers claimed Cassius was scared of Liston and Clay made a point of avoiding strong, fast, hitters in the next three years.

The truth is that there weren't any Fraziers capable of giving "The Mouth" a run for it.

Unfortunately, Frazier blossomed after Clay had been stripped of his title by politics, not in the ring. His opposition to the war in Vietnam was not strictly a black-versus-white stand, but a combination of several factors. And 60,000 Americans who came to Toronto to escape the same draft back Clay's stand.

But he also embraced a religious sect that was strictly racial and the anti-blacks rallied to take every possible step to see he was dethroned. After a court sentence for draft evasion (it's now under appeal) his title was declared vacant.

Frazier emerged as the best of the other fighters, and last week he proved that at this moment he is the greatest.

At the finish, Clay was clearly a beaten man, his face painfully swollen. But he ended all the stories of his lack of courage. What else kept him in there to the finish, despite a ferocious attack by Frazier.

The arrogance was gone. The man who a few hours earlier had called Frazier "Clumsy, ugly, flat-footed," was quiet, admitting defeat.

Before the fight, he said: "If he beats me, I'll crawl across the ring on my knees and say: 'You are the champ, you are the greatest.'" During the fight, he kept saying to Joe: "I'm going to kill you nigger."

Neither happened. And if there is a rematch (at those prices why not?), it won't happen then, Frazier has passed him by, but no fight fan will ever forget Gaseous Cassius!

SPRING JOB PROGRAM EXTENDED TO INDIANS

Indians reserves in Ontario are also eligible for grants under the spring new-job program announced last week by Prime Minister Davis. Accordingly an informational memorandum on the program is being sent to all chiefs and other Indian community leaders, the Hon. John Yaremko, the Minister of Citizenship and Provincial Secretary, announced recently.

"This is the first time that the provincial government has made available to Indians reserves a form of assistance normally extended only to municipalities," Mr. Yaremko said.

"The reserve is a federal government responsibility and employment problems come under that too," the Minister commented. "But the Government of Ontario is continuing its efforts to enrich the federal programs and is offering to contribute grants that would assist the Indian people to carry out some of the badly needed public works projects on the reserves".

Mr. Yaremko said his Department was notifying all Indian leaders about the method of applying for the spring new-job grants. The earlier announcement said the $7,500,000 program would allot grants to municipalities and all Indian reserves on the basis of $1.00 per capita. The amounts are to be used for the labor cost of eligible projects to be carried out during April, May and June of this year.

A skit on "An Executive Meeting" was demonstrated by the members of the executive.

Mrs. Carl Gordon acted as auctioneer for a bake sale of old fashioned cooking which followed.

The meeting closed with the Queen and lunch was served by the hostess and her assistants, and a social time was enjoyed by all.

Here's Salad-Opedia To Vary Salad Bowl

Few things add so much to eating enjoyment as a crisp salad, fresh, green and aglow with nature's goodness. Are you getting variety in your salad bowl? Everybody loves head lettuce. It's the classic salad green. But do you add other greens, too? Mix and match a number of leafy greens in season to make salad its exciting best.

Consider escarole, slightly frilled at the edges, with a flavor quite different from other greens. Escarole is sometimes called straight-leaved endive, which gives a hint as to its flavor. Belgian endive comes in elegant, ivory spears, a wonderful addition to the salad bowl. Romaine has all the dignity of tall green plumes.
This green is crisp, handsome, and a great blender with other types of greens, or use it alone, as a salad variation.

Follow your own good taste to vary salad dressings according to what goes into the bowl. Many people like fresh lemon juice for a change when making a French dressing for a tossed salad.
The creamy dressings are delicious with tossed salads that contain hard-cooked egg. Fresh fruit combines very well with greens in the salad bowl, and a whipped cream dressing sweetened with honey is very good with them.

For extra color in salads, call on carrots cut in curls or sticks, on green pepper rings, both red and green, onion rings and a scattering of bright red radishes. Now is the season to enliven your salad bowl with a variety of the good fresh greens and vegetables so attractive at your market.

'Our pitcher is indistink'

Parents learn in different ways about Education Week.

If their child is a girl, the parents got it as we did a week or so ago — in a neatly folded little notice put on the kitchen table as she got home from school.

However, I know a little about boys, too. They way you get a note from the school by way of a boy is that about four days after HE got it, it's wash-day and something bulgy won't go through the wringer. It turns out to be some paper which got washed along with the jeans.

"What's this?" you ask when he gets home.

"Oh, I dunno. Notice or sum-pen. About parents coming to the school, or sumpen."

"When is it we're supposed to go?"

"Last week."

Never mind. Some of you probably will have made it to school during Education Week.
We did, as usual. It's rather pleasant, all that oh-ing and ah-ing over the paper daffodils and cutouts of polar bears, and talking with the teacher.

I always enjoy the teacher's estimate of how much homework one's offspring does. It's generally a lot more accurate than what the average mother will put down on the questionnaire where — it asks, "How much homework does your child do?"

But my really favorite pastime in Education Week is reading the compositions on the walls. There was one great room last week. I had trouble tearing myself away. The teacher in that room had asked each child to write a composition starting with the lines, "I love my parents because..."

"I love my parents because my Daddy is away and my Mother will not let my brother watch television while I am doing my homework, because she says it affects my consentration..." That one sounds a little like a mealy-mouthed snitch, but never mind.

"I love my parents because when they are out Mary and I make chokit drink and fudsh which when they are home we are not allowed to, but they don't get madd if we clean up the kitchen..."

Completely normal.

"I love my parents because Mummy says if we ever get the furnitche paid off we can buy a new pitcher tube. Our pitcher is now very indistink."

As Canadian as the Maple Leaf.

It is a mysterious world that children live in, really. What happens in their minds as they mooch along to and from school, part of the human production line of the most expensive public education era in history? Few parents know — and the best most of us can hope for are a few clues. I remember one time recently our own eight-year-old made an offhand remark which told a fair amount. It was about her current teacher, a Miss Christie.

"She doesn't yell," our child said. That tells you at least one more thing: that within memory the child has had a teacher who did yell.

Anyway, I've always thought that everything at school is part of the education process:
even the fact that some people yell when they get mad, and some hit you, and others cry.
And that some poor kids are smart and some rich kids are stupid, and vice versa, so that clothes and money are not a sound basis for any human judgments.

"I love my parents because they were lucky enough to be born in, or smart enough to move to, a country where I don't have to carry a machine gun or a factory lunch pail at least until I have decided myself to stop carrying school books."

Okay — I wrote that last one myself. All the same, that's my thought for Education Week:
how lucky our children are.

CO-OP SUMS UP YEAR'S WORK

four cents. In closing, the speaker informed the gathering that the cost of exporting to Britain was 14.9 cents a lb. The amount exported this year would be down about 30 per cent. Quebec and Ontario produce 80 per cent of milk in Canada. The number of producers is dropping but the production per producer is increasing.

The meeting adjourned and all enjoyed a lunch prepared by the Eldorado Women's Institute and provided by Mr. Rollins and the Stirling Creamery. An hour of social get-together followed.

As the meeting resumed, Mr. Cockburn reviewed and explained the financial operation of the past year and predicted a favourable year for 1971. 13,714,000 pounds of milk was processed into 1,235,033 pounds of cheese. 11.2 pounds of milk produced one lb. of cheese.

Mr. Grills stated he always enjoyed dairy meetings in the past, referring to attending cheese factory meetings in Sidney when he was a boy. He conveyed greetings from Parliament, where dairy discussions are held quite frequently. He thought more fancy varieties of cheese could be produced in Canada and less imports would be required. He stated that the Canadian Dairy Commission had some butter and milk powder on hand, but no cheddar cheese.

Mr. Rollins was pleased to be able to attend and extended greetings from the new Premier, Mr. Davis. He would like to see more facilities for service to the County Agricultural producers. He thanked the Stirling Agricultural Office and also our local member of the O.M.M.B. for the co-operation extended in keeping him informed of the agricultural situation.

Mr. Hubbs congratulated the Company and Plant Manager, Mr. Sine, for the successful year just past. He said the increase in the price of cheese in September was a great help to plants and credited a great deal of this to the Marketing Board.

The production of cheese in Canada was up one per cent. Of this, Quebec produced 73,655,000 lbs., an increase of five per cent; Ontario produced 82,520,000 lbs., down three per cent. Hastings County, the second in county production, manufactured 7,764,000, which showed a decrease of 10 per cent. The Ontario production was 93 per cent first grade.

Messrs. Ivan Sine, Percy Rowe and Ken Thompson each expressed confidence in the future and passed along words of comment and advice.

The guest speaker spoke on money management. All success depends on successful management of capital. As we speak of agriculture we think of an investment of five billion dollars in Ontario and 20 billion in Canada. Farm credit in Canada amounts to approximately four billion dollars. Many private farms have an investment of 100,000 dollars and handle one-half to one million dollars in a life-time operation. Money management is broken into four categories: personal use, annual investment, repayment schedule, and savings. Judgement must be made as to his aim. Calamities may change this goal. The cost of each goal should be considered and an examination of the past taken into consideration. Understanding the value of money is very important. In 50 years, 14 dollars invested at the present time would equal $1.00 invested each year for that length of time. One should always look around for the best paying investment. There are four sources of money: savings, interest, inheritance, and credit. The latter is a very important source, as a $100 debit repayment creates a one to four dollar credit. When considering farm investment, many angles should be studied: cost of inputs, interest on loans, repayment capacity, and revenue which could be raised in case of an emergency. In closing, the speaker stressed estate planning as the best method to preserve continuity.

In a few well-chosen words, David Foley thanked the speaker and presented him with ten pounds of cheese.

The election of directors was conducted by Mr. Hubbs, who declared three vacancies. John Irwin and David Franks replaced Allen Ketcheson and Burrell Bateman, who have served six years on the directorate. Harold Chambers, David Foley, Christie Bailey, George Robinson, Richard Chapman, Raeburn Robinson and Allan Pigden are the other directors who will form the directorate for 1971, along with Don McKinnon as President and Francis Tobin as Secretary-Treasurer.

Love is by-line of life

DEAR DORIS — Every year that I live I am more convinced that the waste of life lies in the love we have not given, the powers we have not used, the selfish prudence that will risk nothing, and which, shirking pain, misses happiness as well. No one ever yet was the poorer in the long run for having once in a lifetime "let out all the lengths of all the reins."

Mary Cholmondeley

DEAR DORIS — I am a girl 13. For my birthday I got a lovely new pantsuit in a beautiful soft flannel and lovely shades of blue and white.

Several other girls have pantsuits, and we all want to wear them to school but we are not allowed to. The teachers say we will slouch or start wearing a short dress where she says it could be quite embarrassing when you bend over. But the principal won't budge.

Grade-Niner

DEAR GRADE-NINER — Standards for school dress require mainly that whatever is worn always be clean, neat and in good taste. Right now I can think of a half-dozen young boys and girls who spend their holidays in frayed-out jeans which are too tight for them. Are you sure you wouldn't let your pantsuits get just as unsightly?

I've seen nurses on duty looking band-box fresh in spanking white uniforms of which the bottom halves are not skirts but trousers. I've seen teens at formal dances in elegant trouser suits featuring accordion-pleated chiffon.

Fashions are in transition. A good deal of what happens is going to be up to you and the way you take care of your clothes.

DEAR DORIS — How does one go about getting an appointment with a family counselor or social worker, as I notice you so often recommend in your column, for problems in the family?

Needing Help

DEAR NEEDING — Help is as near as your telephone. Trained caseworkers are to be found on the staffs of family agencies, child-care agencies, and a number of welfare departments. In larger centres, there is also a very few in private practice. They are there to help with people-problems and await your call.

DEAR DORIS — I am always interested in the answers you give to bewildered teenagers. I have some of their problems, too, especially when it comes to my figure.

Would you please send me a "Chart For Curves"? If I keep at those exercises faithfully, will I be able to look my age in a bathing suit by summertime?

Skinny

DEAR SKINNY — The "faithfully" has to apply not only to exercises but to all the other things in the leaflet. In other words, you are going to have to make some drastic changes in your living style, if you are the kind of person who is too up-tight to put on weight and round out the curves.

If you do what the chart says and are faithful about it, I can guarantee improvement by summer; that is, ruling out any health problem. Your doctor will have to assure you about that. Show him the chart before you start.

Confidential to Panicky — Your doctor said you would not, in all probability, have another seizure. He meant it. The conditions under which you had your first one were very upsetting and this sort of stress is not likely to happen again.

Don't let such a phobia color your every waking moment. Engross yourself in something interesting and creative. Not only will this occupy your time; it will give you better mental health. Get busy.

168- POUND HOLSTEIN CALF BORN ON TOWNSHIP FARM

One of the largest Holstein calves ever heard of in the dairy industry was born on Chapman Bros. Farm at Cooper last Thursday morning, March 18th. Weighing in at 168 pounds, the large bull calf was born to a 1600 pound cow named Bertha, who had been bred through the Eastern Breeders, the bull being "Fury Lad". The cow was three weeks and four days over-due, which somewhat accounts for the exceptionally large size of the calf.

This is indeed a remarkable feat for Bertha, who required some assistance in the delivery of the heavy offspring. But she is reported to be progressively doing well and seems none the worse for her experience.

Naturally, the calf, who is yet unnamed, is very healthy, and when the size of its legs and head were compared to some of the other calves in the barn, it matched up to the size of one which was six weeks old! The young animal is reported to have a very hearty appetite.

The owners are Richard and Jerry Chapman, two brothers who operate the farm on a partnership basis. Nephew of the brothers, ten-year-old Garth Chapman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Doug Chapman, who lives within walking distance of the farm, takes care of the feeding of his uncles' calves. Although the newborn almost doubles Garth's weight, the sturdy 168-pounder poses no problem to him-yet.

Richard reports the largest Holstein calf he remembers hearing about previously, weighed 153 pounds. He does not know if a new record has been set, but in all probability it has. Reports on this were not available at press time.

Early Bird Awaits Spring

The beautiful sunny days we were able to enjoy over the weekend and at the first of this week are a sure sign that spring must be just around the corner.

The first appearance of various wildlife and birds also convinces one that a long, hard winter is also nearly over. On Sunday, March 14th, some snowmobilers reported seeing a skunk along the trail just east of the talc mines. The noise of the machines seemed to frighten the little creature and he didn't take time to offer his self-defence from the noisy intruders, who, you can be sure, didn't give him any reason to.

Mr. John Murphy reported that a lone killdeer has been staying around an open spring at the home of his mother, Mrs. Charles Murphy, who lives at Steenburg. He said the bird wades the open creek during the day-time and spends the nights in the barn. It first arrived around the tenth of March. It is highly unusual for a killdeer to make such an early return to the north country, as they generally are not seen until the end of April. The snowbanks in the area around the farm are still about eight feet high, and because the spring never freezes over, the bird was very fortunate to find a place to settle while awaiting the arrival of warmer weather.

Celebrates Birthday

A birthday party was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Mel Bronson for Mr. Nathan Bronson who was celebrating his 79th birthday on Sunday, March 21st.

Attending were Mr. and Mrs. Verle Bronson and family, Peterboro; Mr. and Mrs. Jack Bronson and family, Napanee; Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Bronson and Bobby; Mr. and Mrs. Brian Bronson, Belleville.

Meeting Called On Waste Disposal Site

A special meeting was held in the Madoc Village Council Chambers last night when a small group of the Concerned Citizens from Madoc Township met with the Village Council to discuss the proposed waste disposal site. Special guest to answer the questions of the Concerned Citizens was Mr. Paul Davidson, Regional Engineer of the Waste Management Branch.

Mr. Davidson opened the discussion with a brief outline of the plans for the land fill site and explained the general procedure of operation of such a site, closing his remarks by leaving the floor open for questions.

Committee Chairman, Jack Smith, began the questioning, first with the problem of pollution, mentioning in particular the lovely spring creek in the field and in the vicinity of the proposed waste disposal site. He said it is a good trout stream and a main source of drinking water to the area farmers' cattle.

Mr. Davidson replied that when first inspecting the sight they did not even consider the proximity of the creek because there is not any possibility of contaminating a creek with this land fill method of waste disposal.

Mr. Smith then questioned the presence of clay in the soil on the site, as he understood this is a major factor in choosing land for this use.

In reply, Mr. Davidson said they realized this at the time the site was originally inspected, but with the relatively small amount of waste as would be produced by so small a community, there should be no problem of drainage of liquids into the creek. He said he realized sand and gravel offer very little filtering to liquid run-off from such an area, but one must admit that normal garbage is about 50% paper, which will soak up the moisture before it seeps into the creek. With this in mind, he assured the Citizens that there should be no contamination whatsoever. But he emphasized that super-saturation is a must for proper control over the pollution problem with the creek. He related two very convincing examples of the same type of situation, which are now proving out one hundred percent satisfactory. He also noted that there is very little industrial waste in this locale, so the liquid content of the waste should be almost nil.

Committee Chairman then brought up the question about the land values of the property owners in the area, especially pointing out the restaurant very near to the field, which has to meet extremely high standards through health authorities to remain in operation. What will the presence of this waste disposal site do in this case?

Mr. Davidson said it is virtually impossible to find a site anywhere that is perfectly agreeable and satisfactory to everyone in the community and stated that he could see the reason for the concern of the property owners in the area.

Mr. Smith added that a piece of land was being considered for the possibility of another new home being built, in his neighbourhood, and as soon as the waste disposal site possibility was brought up in the purchasers presence, he immediately backed down on the plans.

Mr. Carl McCoy spoke, saying that he depends entirely on the creek for the water supply for his large herd of beef cattle and said that the creek is the only water supply of one of the neighbouring farmers there. He said one neighbour has been able to drink from the spring water there himself while working in the fields in the summer. This would be impossible if plans for the waste disposal site were proceeded with.

The reply to this was there will be rules of daily top-soil coverage set down for the Village Council and a Pest Control System will be strictly enforced.

Mr. Harry McCoy said there are numerous springs all over the field and he felt that if a trench method is used, these trenches will be full of water all the time and there will be a constant run-off into the creek. Mr. Davidson answered, stating that regulations make distance from the nearest creek compulsory to be (Continued on page 5)

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE EXECUTIVE SWORN IN FOR 71

The newly elected executive of the Madoc District Chamber of Commerce was recently sworn in by Reeve Tom Burnside at the Madoc Hotel. The reigns of office were passed on from retiring President, Pres Nickle, to "Chuck" Mowat.

It was encouraging to see some new faces on the Directorate and it is hoped they will bring new thinking and "oomph" to the Chamber.

Those on the Executive are: Past-President, Presley Nickle; President, "Chuck" Mowat; Vice-President, Art Simpson; Secretary, Ken Nielson; Treasurer, Joe Bossio; Directors: Gord Pigden, George Devolin, Terry Fox, Ken Broad, Frank Downey, Clarence Farrow, Tom Ross, Harold Lyons, Clayt Smith, Camille Thebeau, and Jack Stewart.

The next meeting dealt mainly with the setting up of the various Committees. The next meeting will be getting into the meat of Chamber activities. Judging from the enthusiasm and earnestness of President "Chuck", the bones will be rattled this year and indications are that the rattling will be heard. Judge for yourself from the following President's message: "It is my pleasure as your new president to extend warmest greetings to the membership of the Madoc Chamber of Commerce as we enter a new year. You may well ask why a non-merchant would be interested in primarily a merchant's organization. My motive is simple. I have chosen the Madoc area to reside in for many years to come. Naturally, I share with the merchants, indeed with the whole community, a desire to see Madoc grow and prosper.

Emphasis on communication and more involvement in the welfare of Madoc will be important goals of the "Chamber" this year. I would hope that every member will make an effort to support the organization in its endeavours through regular participation in its regular meetings. Your ideas and suggestions are important and make up the life blood of the life blood of the "Chamber". I encourage members to be involved! — be interested.

May I say too, that I welcome the friendly help and guidance of the past executive. Their wisdom is valued. I congratulate the general membership for the fine work done in the past. The recent brochure is commendable.

I look forward to another successful year."

An Executive Meeting was held last night, Tuesday, March 23rd at 8 O'clock in the Kiwanis Centre. It is hoped a report of this meeting will be available for next week's paper. As Chuck's message indicates, he welcomes all (and any one of the general membership) to attend any or all meetings. See you there?

MADOC YOUTH INJURED IN CRASH

In the midst of a blinding snowstorm, poor visibility and hazardous driving conditions, a two vehicle collision took place at the northern limits of Tweed Village at 7:10 p.m. Friday, March 19, which sent two teenage girls to hospital. Driver of the first vehicle was Daniel Vallieres, 65, of R.R. 3, Madoc, who was operating a 1/2 ton G. M. C. pick-up truck, which was south bound, and which received $500. damage. In the truck were two passengers, his wife and 17-year-old daughter, Suzanne. The latter was taken for emergency treatment to Belleville General Hospital, by ambulance, with undetermined injuries.

The second vehicle was a 1970 Datsun, driven by Miss Patricia Hunnako, 19 years, of Toronto, who was alone in the car. She was also taken to Belleville Hospital in the same ambulance, with undetermined injuries. She was later released.

The accident was investigated by Chief Bill Carroll, of the Tweed Village Police, who states that, under the circumstances, he did not lay any charges.

At 8:05 a.m. March 20th, a one car motor accident occurred just east of the Land O'Lakes Restaurant on Highway No. 7, when the car turned over at the roadside, and incurred damages of 500.00 to the side, windshield and rear window.

The driver of the 1969 Chev. was Raymond Joberty, 48 years old, of Ottawa. With him was his wife, Magdalene Joberty, 44 years, who complained of back pains, and was sent to Belleville General Hospital for x-rays. The two children, who were also in the car, were uninjured.

There was no other vehicle involved and no other property damage.

Investigation officer was Constable C. L. Horton, of Madoc O.P.P.s, who laid charges.

The car was a mess, but the motor in good condition, and Mr. Joberty was able to drive the car on its own power.

Another First For Madoc

Did you know Madoc is the smallest town to have licensed local T.V. program facilities? That's right! Hastings Cable Vision Limited, owned jointly by Messrs. Gordon Pigden and Glen Nickle, is the smallest cable system to be equipped with two cameras and a video tape recorder to offer local programming.

As many of our readers know, Village subscribers to Cable are treated to a three to three and one half hour show every Sunday night on Channel 6 over television. The programme covers a variety of articles, including discussions, local talent and special features, along with many other interesting topics. The large variation in the programs is a reflection of the community interest on the whole. The owners are particularly pleased with the numerous ideas people have come up with and also with the immense co-operation they have received in preparing the shows. All work, including cameraman, announcers, directors and other participants, is done completely on a voluntary basis. The untiring efforts of many persons points out what a community as small as Madoc can do when so many get involved.

Mr. Pigden mentioned they would like to have a more controversial program, but no steps have been taken in this regard, as yet. He and Mr. Nickle spend many long hours in the maintenance of the system, and although it is not a highly profitable business, money-wise, the work is deeply rewarding. They feel the human interest itself merits the endless hours of work required to keep Hastings Cable Vision active.

"It would seem to be in the national interest for the federal government to encourage the development of cable television, a medium which can strengthen the broadcasting and communications system of this country," R.C. Short, Canadian Cable Television Association president, said today.

This week all cable operators are making a special effort to acquaint the public with the vast potential of broad band, coaxial cable communications systems. Proposed policy alternatives for the industry were announced February 26 by the Canadian Radio-Television Commission, and these topics will be subject of a public hearing April 26th.

"It is a fact that cable television supplies a desired, legitimate, service to its subscribers," Mr. Short declared.

"Since 1952, the industry has grown steadily, to the point where it now serves 1.2 million households, or 28 per cent of the nation's television viewers. Public demand for our services has not declined, but continued to grow at about 30 percent per year.

"Now technological advances have given the cable industry a new dimension. Previously limited to offering a superior antenna rental service, the future of cable communications now comes into focus when we think of the capability of offering 20 or 40 channels of a new kind of television fare."

Not only will cable continue to offer fidelity reception of the on-air broadcast channels, but it can now offer a diversity of programs aimed at smaller selected audiences with special interests. The Madoc Channel 6 local program (Continued on page 8)

TRUDEAU'S WEDDING THE WISDOM OF AGE

By BILL SMILEY

Belated congratulations to our Prime Minister and his bride. It was one of the big upsets in March. The others were Mohammed Ali taking the clobbering of his life-time, and me winning an argument with my wife.

Not from the first have I been swept away by Mr. Trudeau's charisma, though the women in my family were. At times I have had serious doubts about his attitude and decisions.

But when a man has enough sense to wait until he is 51 to get married, I feel our country is in safe hands.

Good gravy, if I had waited until 51, and I'm not there yet, I'd probably be able to ski and scuba-dive. And I might even be prime minister. And a millionaire.

But when a man marries at 25, he's had it. He has just thrown away the best twenty-five years of his life; the second twenty-five, that is.

For the first ten or twelve years, he's swimming against the tide. In more prosaic terms, he is spending about 140 out of the 168 hours in every week sorting out his kids, his finances and his woman. That leaves him 28 hours to float, and don't forget he's going against the tide. So where does he float? Downstream, that's where.

That's why so many married men of 50 are washed-up. On shore, or otherwise.

If he can keep his head above water during the first period, he's a mighty strong swimmer. But in the process, he has developed hardening of his physical, emotional and mental arteries.

And just about then, he is pulled out of the water, purple and gasping, and told that he is entered in another marathon. In short, his kids are in their teens. Swim, baby, swim.

It really racks me to think of the gifts I have squandered in nearly twenty-five years of marriage. Especially when I think of Mr. Trudeau.

We're very much alike. He's a little older and has a little less hair. Probably more teeth, unless they're false.

About twenty-five years ago, we were on equal terms. Both in excellent physical condition. The only real differences I can see are that he had a lot of money. And I chose to swim upstream, while he chose to swim down.

Perhaps there's one other minor difference. He does everything well, and I do everything poorly. But don't forget he's had two and a half decades to practise — everything from skiing to chess — while I've had to catch them on the run.

I'd like to see what a great scuba-diver he was if he'd had to raise two rotten kids and pay off about four mortgages. Not to mention dealing with a strong-minded woman who has a direct line to divine inspiration in every discussion.

No wonder he was able to snatch up a beautiful, intelligent 22-year-old at his age. He's practically unscarred, while I'm like an old alley cat. About all I could snatch up, aside from the fact that my wife would kill me, is a 48-year-old, with three divorces and three chins.

Don't for one moment think I'm jealous. Let him have his big rent-free mansion in Ottawa while I labour over my heavily-axed, heavily-mortgaged hovel.

Let him have his fifty or sixty thousand a year in salary. We have enough to put bread on the table, after paying income tax and putting two kids through university.

I'm not envious. He earned it, by being smart enough to stay single until he was 51.

At least I don't have to bother with platoons of photographers and numberless newsmen when I take out Barbara Streisand.

No, I wouldn't trade him even, my old lady for his, my kids for his charisma. (They think I have charisma, which is good enough for me.)

The only thing I get a little wistful about is not being asked to be Prime Minister.

And I still think I could beat him in a game of Russian billiards.

LETTERS to the EDITOR

Miss Carol Foley,
North Hastings Review,
Box 460, Madoc, Ontario.

Dear Miss Foley:

We, the residents in the vicinity of the proposed new waste-disposal site wish to inform all interested persons of our reasons for objecting to the same.

1. Fear of pollution to the creek, which is very near the site, thus endangering cattle who drink from this creek, which eventually runs into Moira Lake.

2. Fear of pollution to wells in the area due to the spring run-off and after a heavy rainfall.

3. Fear of its attracting rats and vermin which can carry disease.

4. Probability of odour from the waste between the time it is dumped and the time it is buried carried by the prevailing west wind to the nearby residences.

5. The close proximity of this site to a restaurant and to a growing residential area which promises many potential building lots in the future and which will be an asset to the community.

We regret the loss of certain funds already invested in this project, but this was unavoidable, since information was not made available to those concerned in time to prevent this.

Yours very truly,
Grace Gordon and Elizabeth Woods,
Representatives of Committee of Residents Concerned.

R.R. 1, Eldorado, Ontario.
March 22nd, 1971.

Miss Carol Foley,
Editor,
North Hastings Review,
Madoc, Ontario.

Dear Miss Foley:

On behalf of our new club, I would like to express our thanks for having the notice of our first meeting published.

I am enclosing for your information a copy of February's Rabbits in Canada which featured our Rabbitry here in Eldorado.

Church Women met in the Sunday School room on Thursday afternoon, March 18th.

In the absence of the unit leader, Mrs. Harry Love, Mrs. Goldie Holmes had charge of the Devotional.

The meeting opened with the singing of the Theme Song and Hymn 97, "Never further than Thy Cross." The roll call showed 11 members present. Scripture was read by Mrs. Arthur Holmes and a reading, "How blessed are they", by Mrs. Roy Rollins. "The Resurrection told by McCullah", was read by Mrs. Walter Wannamaker. A short reading, "Repeat performance", by Mrs. R. Sager was given. A commentary, "The Seven Statements while on the Cross", was given by Mrs. Arthur Holmes. Hymn 98, "Beneath the Cross of Jesus", was sung, followed by the closing prayer.

The program began with a Poem by Mrs. Goldie Holmes, "Ring the Easter Bells", followed by poems by Mrs. Wm. Cassidy and Mrs. McMurray, "The Bridge Builder", "Winter's Over", and "White Walled Highways a Winding to the South". Mrs. Harold Tokley read a comic poem, "Skidoo Ma Ma".

Mrs. Tokley closed the meeting and lunch was served and a social time spent.

A recent article appeared in the Review about the Madoc Village Council holding an emergency meeting over the water situation. The write-up was concluded thus: "Kincald White — that J. D. Lee Engineering be instructed to advertise Tenders for drilling a well; that bids be received on February 25th; and Council make award on the 26th; the contractor to be on the job March 2nd. Council will remove snow from sight."

The spelling error in the last sentence brought many comments from our readers, who are anxiously awaiting the arrival of spring. One of the more outstanding resultant comments was submitted as follows:

"WELL, WELL!"

Each small town has its troubles. Pollution, sewage, dope. Traffic jams, detergent bubbles. And Madoc was losing hope.

The village fathers met again. Determined now, to cope. With what had hereto balked these men, And made the whole town mope.

The water pressure dropped so low That folks on higher ground Had none at all; and down below 'Twould trickle, not abound.

"Call tenders" cried a desperate man. The council all agreed. "We'll start the work fast as we can And fill this frantic need."

So dates were set for action To everyone's delight, And the minutes' closing mention Was 'council clearing snow from sight.'

The winter had been long and cold, The snow uncommon deep, So that last promise, firm and bold, Was one we hoped they'd keep.

Weeks have passed. The work's begun, And water should abound, Yet, deeply disappointing, Snow piles, higher still, around.

Perhaps a gremlin was at work To addle their intent; (Or wishful thinking by the clerk?) 'Twas 'site', not 'sight' they meant! — N. A. W.

There is a rumour in circulation to the effect that a new bake shop will be opened in Madoc. Judging from the different prices of bread, this will be an advantage to all. Belleville and Marmora bread is shipped to Madoc and sold at 20 cents a loaf, while our local baker asks 22 cents. How do they do it?

The February meeting of the Madoc Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. T. E. Burnside, at which it was decided to raise $1,000, as the Institute's share of the memorial. One suggestion was that the ladies prepare a good play for fair week and Mrs. Hill moved that a silver collection be taken at each meeting for the memorial fund.

On Friday evening last a number of Queensboro friends and neighbours met at the home of Mr. Irvine Delyea for a farewell visit to Miss Grace Delyea. After a pleasant evening, Mr. Thomas Sager read an address and Miss Emma Lynn and A. Howe presented Miss Delyea with a quantity of table silver. Everyone's best wishes go with Miss Delyea, who will be much missed in the Queensboro community.

On Wednesday last a very enjoyable evening was spent at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Keene of Eldorado, when a number of friends and neighbours met to bid them a kind farewell before their departure for their new home in the west. Mr. Russell Fitzgerald read an address to Mr. and Mrs. Keene and little Hazel, signed on behalf of their friends of Eldorado and surrounding community by George Williams and Keith Warren.

Major J. W. Foote, Canada's padre V. C. from Dieppe, will sail from Halifax on March 20th with the ashes of an unknown Canadian soldier killed in France in August, returning them to France, where they will be buried in a military cemetery. They were brought to Canada by another padre, from Toronto, unwittingly violating official policy.

A number of wolves have been killed in the area recently. Mr. Sandford Laurence of Marmora bagged three of a pack of four caught chasing a deer when he was checking his trap lines. Three other wolves, one of which exceeded six feet in length, were shot during the past two days, bringing the total county winter bag to 17. These animals were killed by James Oliver, Actinolite; G. Yearwood; Huntingdon Twp., and Arnold Ray of Rawdon.

A large number of friends and neighbours gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Blakely on Wednesday evening, February 27th, for a social evening with them before they leave for their new home in Madoc. An address was read to them before they were presented with a lovely studio couch.

The construction rate currently at $1.75 increases to $1.90.

The general student rate will be $1.30.

The minimum rate for the hotel, motel, tourist resort, restaurant and tavern industry will be $1.65. There will be one exception. Assistant bell captains, bellmen, doormen, waiters, bus boys and waitresses will receive the new minimum wage of $1.65 on October 1, 1971.

The new rates are the second step in the minimum wage increases announced last year. At that time, the minimum hourly wage was raised from $1.30 to $1.50 starting last October with the second increase to $1.65 to become effective April 1.

100 feet. Here the distance is approximately 400 feet.

It was pointed out by a Citizen that one corner of that field is nothing but brush, therefore making that space completely useless.

The citizens were assured that this space could be used, but only for dry brush and the like, and only dry brush can be burned on such a land fill site. Everything else must be covered over.

Gordon Pigden asked about the expense of the method, saying that a daily covering over with soil would be very high in cost. He asked what would happen if the village Council decided it was too costly to cover the waste daily and acceded only to go on once a week or such.

Mr. Davidson assured him that regular inspections would be made to the site. He also pointed out that he was certain if area residents knew of such goings on, they would report it immediately. In this case, an inspection would be made and the Village Council would be advised to follow regulations or to close the site until they were prepared to. He said they would recommend the Council as to methods of cutting costs, possibly by closing the area for one additional day per week, as, naturally, the fill is only put in on the days the site is in operation.

Mr. Lorne Miller brought up the question of rat control, as this would pose a particular problem to his business.

He was assured that a Pest Control agency would genuinely see to it that no rats became a problem to area residents. He said the main thing is that they start right off looking after this problem, and that the rats don't get a head start on the site. He also said there should not be any appear because rats will not migrate any more than two miles at the most and with the land fill operation, if the garbage is properly compressed in the trenches, the rats would have no access to it.

When asked why the present dump was ordered closed, Mr. Davidson reported that, first of all, it is a real eyesore; and secondly, the odour of smoke from the burning of rubbish is intolerable to area residents.

He was then asked why the present dump could not be made into a land fill operation and Mr. Davidson said the supply of the necessary soil was inadequate.

He warned the Council that at the time of closing of the present dump, it is essential to make certain every last rat on the area is killed. A pest control service is the only sure way of getting this done properly. As soon as the dump has been closed, The Department of Energy and Resources Waste Management Branch, will inspect and approve the extinction of rats from the area. He emphasized the fact that burying rats alive will not suffice. They are noted for digging their way out again and as everyone knows, rats spread very rapidly once they get going.

When it was pointed out that this proposed waste disposal site came as a shock to the Township residents, they were told that this was the reason for the notice appearing in the Review for three consecutive weeks.

Reeve Burnside said he had spoken casually about the matter on three occasions to Township Reeve Cecil Woods, last year, and at the time he voiced no objections. However, Miss Olive Ashe had on file a letter recently received from the Township stating their disapproval of the proposed waste disposal site. Mr. Burnside brought up the fact that a considerable amount of money had already been spent on the site, the land having been purchased and surveyed.

At this point, Kel Kincaid discussed the possibility of collaborating with the Township Council in opening up a land fill site operated jointly by the two Councils. This would cut the costs in half for each Council, and would solve the problem of searching for a possible site by the Township Council in the very near future as something will, without a doubt, have to be done about their present method of waste disposal. After some discussion, Mr. Kincaid made a motion that the two Councils be called together immediately for a meeting to discuss the possibility to try to work out a solution for a waste disposal site agreeable to all concerned. The motion was seconded by Councillor Clayton Smith.

The Committee having no further questions, Mr. Jack Smith thanked Mr. Davidson for taking the time to discuss the problem with them and for answering their questions. He also thanked the Madoc Village Council for their time and patient listening to the questions and objections they presented. Thanking Reeve Burnside, he said that he hoped an agreeable solution could be made, because, "I don't want to have to drive all the way to Bancroft for my milk".

LEGIONAIRE PEE-WEES ENTER O.M.H.A. FINALS

Two of the most exciting games of the season took place last weekend when Madoc and Powassan hooked-up in the first two games of their best two out of three semi-final series. A better script couldn't have been written as far as Madoc was concerned. After braving the long, slippery, slushy trip to Powassan (20 miles south of North Bay) the local Pee-Wees took two periods to get unwound and came from behind a 2-0 deficit to win 7-6.

In Madoc on Sunday the Pee-Wees played two periods of mediocre hockey and again fell behind, 3-1, but came on strong in the final stanza to win 5-4. In Saturday's game Danny Forestell's six goals gave Madoc the scoring punch they needed, while on Sunday Randy Rodgers scored the winner with seven minutes left in the game.

SCORING SUMMARY

Madoc at Powassan
First Period
1. Powassan - Frederick (Purdon and Garland) 3:25.
2. Powassan - Purdon (Arbour) 5:40.

3. Madoc - Danny Forestell (Stewart Carswell) 8:25.
Second Period
4. Madoc - D. Forestell (Larry Bailey) 10:25.

Third Period
5. Madoc - D. Forestell (Roger Elliott) 0:15.
6. Madoc - L. Bailey (R. Elliott and S. Carswell) 1:58.

7. Madoc - D. Forestell (Elliott and Carswell) 4:58.
8. Madoc - D. Forestell (Elliott) 5:12.

9. Powassan - Frederick (Barber) 5:40.
10. Powassan - Johnson (Barber and Garbani) 11:01.

11. Powassan - Arbour (Barber and Garbani) 14:18.
12. Madoc - D. Forestell (Carswell and Steven Johnston) 15:05.

13. Powassan - Barber (Purdon and Garland) 18:29.
Final Score - Madoc 7 - Powassan 6

From the scoring summary you will probably note that the goals came hot and heavy in the third period. Each team opened up and gave the fans the thrill of seeing end-to-end rushes, good saves and near misses.

In Madoc Sunday afternoon the scoring summary reads as follows.

First Period
1. Powassan - Frederick (unassisted) 5:50.
2. Powassan - Purdon (Graham) 2:20.

3. Powassan - Frederick (Garland and Purdon) 4:50.
4. Madoc - Stewart Carswell (Danny Forestell and Larry Bailey) 10:50.

Third Period
5. Madoc - Roger Elliott (Robert Nickle) 3:50.
6. Madoc - Danny Forestell (R. Elliott) 5:20.

7. Madoc - Danny Forestell (R. Elliott and Steven Johnston) 6:05.
8. Powassan - Barber (Garland) 10:54.

9. Madoc - Randy Rodgers (S. Carswell) 12:43.
Final Score Madoc 5 - Powassan 4

The win on Sunday eliminates Powassan from further play and places Madoc in the O.M.H.A. Pee-Wee "D" Finals against either Belmont (South-East of London) or Elora (North of Guelph). The final series will be a best three out of five series and there is a "remote" possibility that it may start this weekend. The Pee-Wee team would like to thank all those who supported them in Powassan and all the fans who waited patiently last Sunday afternoon because of the delay. We would also like to wish Paul Armstrong, one of our right wingers, a speedy recovery from his appendix operation.

Next week we will take a look at O.M.H.A. hockey in the past. Do you know the answers to the following questions. When was the last time Madoc had a team in the O.M.H.A. finals. Who was the coach and manager of the team? Who were some of the players involved? Did Madoc win or lose the series and to whom or over whom? What did that series and the upcoming series have in common? The only clue I'll give is you'll have to go to the nineteen forties. We'll have the answers next week when we take a look back into the hockey history of O.M.H.A. hockey in Madoc.

In the meantime, be a Legionaire Pee-Wee Booster. We need all the vocal and financial support we can get.

SENIOR CITIZENS VISIT PUBLIC SCHOOL

On Thursday, March 11th, during Education Week, 31 members of the Madoc and District Senior Citizens Club spent a very pleasant afternoon at the Madoc Public School, as guests of Principal, Mr. Murphy and his staff. A most delicious afternoon tea was prepared and served by a number of the senior girls. The rest of the afternoon was spent visiting the various class rooms and seeing the children at work. We would like to say "Thank You" to Mr. Murphy and his staff for so graciously entertaining us.

Forty-five members and five visitors attended the March 17th meeting of the Madoc and District Senior Citizens Club. The meeting opened by singing "The more we get together". President Mrs. Broadworth, spoke a word of welcome to all, and read a suitable poem. Secretary Miss Roney, read the minutes of the previous meeting. Roll call, "Name a place in Ireland and wear something green", was well responded to and brought out many shades of green. A medley of Irish songs were sung with Mrs. Reid at the piano. The next regular meeting will be held on March 31st, at the usual time and place.

The Lunch Committee will be Mr. Moorcroft, Mrs. Maynard, Mrs. Holmes, Mrs. Warren and Mrs. Donahue. This concluded the business period.

Mrs. Moorcroft, program convener, then conducted a very nice St. Patrick's day program. Readings were given by Mrs. Gordon and Mrs. Moorcroft and solos by Mr. Williams and Mr. Bronson. A delightful monologue, "Dora Dumb the plumber", was given in fine style by Miss Adams and was greatly enjoyed. Mr. Elwood Dunn again favored with his mouth organ music.

A number of the members took part in two contests, a potato race, which was won by Mrs. Blakely's side and an apron contest which was won by Mr. Williams and Mr. Bronson. Mrs. Reid played a piano solo.

The lunch committee served a very nice lunch and a social half hour followed. During the lunch period the suggestion box was opened and Mrs. Broadworth read the suggestions made by the members for future programs.

Don't forget the next meeting March 31 at the same time and place. Come and bring a friend.

Playing the first game of the best of seven series in Bancroft last Wednesday night, the Madoc Intermediate's downed the Bancroft squad, 8-4.

Don Donaldson, assisted by Lloyd Acorn and Gord Donaldson, opened the scoring at the four-minute mark in the first period. Three minutes and 30 seconds later, Ralph Francis, on an assist of Jerry Chapman, whipped in a second goal. Another three minutes and one second later, Jerry Chapman and Bob Bartsch assisted Terry Chapman in giving Madoc a 3-0 lead. Exactly three minutes after, Jerry Chapman, assisted by Don Donaldson, scored the locals final goal of the period. Bancroft replied with only one goal with 57 seconds remaining in the period. Penalties during the first stanza — Madoc boys stayed completely out of the box for the whole period, while Bancroft served two two-minute penalties.

Early in the second period, one Madoc player spent two minutes serving a penalty, but luckily, no harm was done. The only goal of the period was scored at the 11-minute mark by Glen Graham on an assist of R. Francis. The rest of the period went uneventful, no penalties being handed out and no more goals being scored.

At the opening of the third stanza, Madoc was in the lead, five goals to one, and Bancroft resolved to put every effort into the game to bring the score to a tie. Needless to say, the Madoc boys would have no part of it, and held their own quite nicely. After one and a half minutes of play, the opponents whipped one in, followed by a second one at the 10:49 mark. Harold Bailey, assisted by Lloyd Acorn, at the 13:38 mark, and Don Donaldson, unassisted, replied with two goals, to bring the score to 7-3 for Madoc. At the 17:30 mark, Bancroft put one final goal in, only to get a quick answer from Madoc's Jerry Chapman, on an assist of T. Chapman and Bob Bartsch. This completed the scoring, the Madoc boys bringing home an 8-4 victory. Penalties were numerous in this final period, seven being handed out in all. Only two of these were Madoc players! All penalties were two minutes in length, except one, when Bancroft received a ten-minute misconduct count to No. 10, Bill Green. All in all, a very clean, serious game.

As it had been announced in last week's Review it was somewhat disappointing to have the Bancroft team call to re-schedule Friday night's game for the next night.

Mrs. Clayton Blackburn, Mr. and Mrs. Harley Blackburn, Mark, Lorie and Lynn were Sunday supper guests of Mr. and Mrs. Don Lorie of Madoc. Mr. Mel Johnson was a Sunday supper guest of Mr. and Mrs. John McCann and family of Madoc.

However, playing at home on Saturday night, the Madoc boys were defeated 7-5 by Bancroft. The headcount of the crowd was one of the best yet, but the weak vocal support was appalling. The change in the players' spirit and action was something to see when the spectators finally began to cheer. Too bad they hadn't given our boys a little more help when they needed it — at the first of the game, not in the last half of the final period! However, there are more games coming and more chances for the fans to show the boys they have real team spirit, too.

Bancroft opened the scoring in the first period, Burley Casselman tallying at the 1:10 mark. Madoc's Jerry Chapman, assisted by both Bob Bartsch and Terry Chapman, sent in a reply nine minutes later. Taking their turn again, Casselman scored for the opponents at the 12:38 mark. Near the close of the period, J. Chapman, on an assist of Bob Bartsch, shot in the final goal of the period, with a very powerful slap shot. Only one penalty was served by the locals during this opening period, while three were served by Bancroft.

No. 5, Bill Green for Bancroft sent in a quick goal after one minute of play in the second period. Bob Bartsch, assisted by T. and J. Chapman, replied at the 5:14 mark with Madoc's only goal of the period. When the visitors whipped in two more goals, giving themselves a 5-3 lead at the end of the period, the crowd went dead. No penalties had been sat out during the period by either team, displaying very serious hockey playing.

The third period saw Bancroft's Ted Donaldson open the scoring at the 6:19 mark. Not until Terry McGregor, assisted by Ralph Francis, skated in and scored a goal for Madoc at the 11:34 mark did the fans begin to come alive and let loose with their cheering. Immediately the spirit on the ice changed as well, and two minutes later, Jerry Chapman, assisted by Bob Bartsch, whipped another one in, bringing Madoc to within one goal of making the score a tie. The crowd then grew continuously louder and the boys skated harder than ever, but time was running out. In the final minute of play, Bancroft's Norm Easte sneaked one in past goalie Blane Reynolds and the final buzzer rang out to a disappointed group of Madoc fans. Penalties in the third period, Madoc one, Bancroft two.

These games have been exceptionally clean, with some very serious hockey being played with scarcely any fighting.

The boys travel to Bancroft tonight (Wednesday) and will play the fourth game of the series here Friday night at 8:30. Buses will be going to tonight's game, leaving Kramp's Super-test at 7:00 p.m. The more fans that attend, the more noise they will make and the better the boys will play. After that demonstration last Saturday night, the necessity of vocal support was clearly pointed out. So come out and do your part to bring the championship to Madoc.

Dr. Wilson, 87, of 245 Barrington St., Rochester, N.Y., retired from teaching in 1950.

A native of Madoc, Ontario, Canada, Dr. Wilson earned his M.D. degree in 1908 from McGill University. He took postgraduate training in Montreal and Baltimore hospitals.

He went to Rochester in 1923 as the first professor and chairman of the department of obstetrics and gynecology at the newly established UR School of Medicine and Dentistry.

Dr. Wilson was a member of the American Gynecology Society and served as its vice president in 1933.

HEALTH UNIT DISCUSSES FAMILY PLANNING

One of the main topics of discussion at the March 18 meeting of the Hastings and Prince Edward Counties Health unit was family planning. Alderman Enos David moved that the health unit's family planning program, as it exists at present, should be continued and that statistics should be compiled so that a report can be made at the end of the current fiscal year to plan for expanding the program next year. The motion was carried.

The discussion on this subject was triggered off by letters from the city of Belleville and the family and children's services recommending that a family planning unit should be inaugurated.

A motion was also carried to do a survey of Roblin Lake. This was on the recommendation of the Ontario Water Resources Commission. A motion was carried in favor of joining the Ontario Health Units Association.

Miss Ethel Hounslow, supervisor of nursing had sent in her resignation, which was accepted.

The date of future meetings was changed to the third Thursday of every month.

FEDERATION MEMBERS TO PAY LESS FOR TIRES

Tractor and car tires at Goodyear Retail Stores will now cost less for members of the Ontario Federation of Agriculture.

Announcing the special discounts, OFA President Gordon Hill said: "This arrangement will allow individual Service Members to purchase tractor and car tires, batteries and parts at considerable savings. It's another step in OFA's overall program to reduce the cost of inputs for farmers."

The discounts for Federation members amount to 21 per cent off regular car tires and batteries, 23 per cent off regular truck and tractor tires and 15 per cent off service parts.

Goodyear offered the discounts to Federation members because of their considerable buying power. There are 7,500 paid-up members at present.

Goodyear has 42 retail stores in Ontario.

OMMB HALTS AUCTION OF MILK QUOTAS

In a move to halt the rising price of milk quotas in Ontario, the Ontario Milk Marketing Board has suspended the sale of milk quotas by auction, effective after April 1, 1971.

Representation from County and District Milk Committees to the Board and producer requests to the Board members directly, has brought about this change in Board policy. The Board believes its decision will be in the best interests of the Province's milk producers.

The current high price level of quotas is attributed, in some measure, to the fact that quotas are sold at auctions.

The Board is also aware of certain undesirable procedures currently being used at auctions that tend to increase the value of milk quotas.

The quotas purchased by producers can only be transferred through the Ontario Milk Marketing Board. After April 1st, the Board will not accept applications for transfer quotas that have been purchased through an auction.

The average selling price for Group 1 Pool quota in the Southern Ontario Pool was $26.90 per pound for the month of February. A year ago the price was $21.10 per pound. The average selling price of quota in the Northern Ontario Pool for Feb. 1971, was $12.50 per pound. A year ago the price was $13.70 per pound.

TAX TIPS

1. Q. My employer pays a portion of a hospital premium. Do I have to report this as part of my income on my tax return and if so where does my employer show this on the T4 slip?

A. This depends on the terms of the contract under which your employer makes the payment. If the payment is a taxable benefit to be included in your income, your employer is required to report this on your T4 slip as "Taxable Allowance and Benefits", and include it in the amount shown as "Total earnings before deductions".

2. Q. I am now receiving the old age security pension. Must I include this pension money as part of my income on my income tax return?

A. Yes. Both the old age security pension and the supplement is taxable and must be included on your income tax return.

3. Q. My employer provides me with board and lodging. On my T4 slip there is a sum entered as taxable benefits. Would this be the dollar value of my board and lodging? If so, do I have to include this as part of my taxable income?

A. Yes, if your board and lodging is provided as part of your salary, and no deductions have been made from your salary by your employer to cover the cost of board and lodging, you would include this amount as part of your taxable income. However, it has already been included in the "total earnings" on your T4 slip so you do not have to add it on again.

4. I am divorced and receive alimony payments from my former husband. Do I have to report these payments as income on my tax return, and if so, where on the return do I enter the amount?

A. Yes, these payments must be reported as income. Enter the total received in the year on the line for "Other income" on your return.

5. Q. I am now receiving pension payments from the Canada Pension Plan. Are the monies I receive taxable, and should I include them when I report my income?

A. Yes, the income you are now receiving from the Canada Pension Plan is taxable and should be reported on your income tax return.

6. Q. Are dividends and interest credited on non-matured life insurance policies taxable?

A. The dividends and interest credited on non-matured life insurance policies have not been considered taxable income for 1970 and prior years.

Snowfall Double Normal
This has been quite a winter and last Friday night and Saturday morning March 19th and 20th, another six inches of snow fell over the area. A report from the Tweed Climatological Station prepared last Saturday morning, March 20th, revealed that snowfall until 7:30 that morning, during March, is 24 inches. It is interesting to note that normal snowfall for the month is 20.9 inches - less than half of what we have received to date!

Normal snowfall for the entire winter season, which extends from November 1st to April 1st in any one year, is 65.91 inches. From the first of November, 1970, to March 20th, 1971, we have had 136.3 inches of snowfall.

So, we have already exceeded double the normal amount for the season, which still has seven days left to go. Figures quoted are according to the Lands and Forests at the Tweed weather office.

LEGIONAIRE PEE-WEES MEET ELORA IN O.M.H.A. "D" FINALS

(By Bev. Browning)

The next two weeks will decide which town, Elora or Madoc, has the best Pee-Wee "D" team in Ontario.

This Saturday night at 8:00 p.m., Madoc and Elora will meet in Elora in the first game of a best three out of five final series. The second game will also be played in Elora on Sunday afternoon either at 1:00 or 2:00 p.m. The third game is scheduled for Friday, April 9th, at 8:00 p.m. in the Madoc Arena. If a fourth and fifth game is necessary, they will be played on Saturday night, April 10th, and Sunday afternoon at 2:00 p.m. in Madoc.

The line-up that will be facing Elora this Saturday is as follows: Goal, Doug Ross; Defence, Roger Elliott and Steven Johnston; Forwards: Danny Forestell, Robert Nickle, Stewart Carswell, Larry Bailey, Randy Rodgers, Jim Moore, John Watson, Gordon Morrison, Ricky Brown, Glenn Brown, Mike Rollins, Garry Chapman and Mark Johnston. Paul Armstrong is still recuperating from his appendix operation.

This is the first Madoc team to reach the finals since the Madoc Midgits played Elmira in 1947. Your support is needed to bring Madoc to its first O.M.H.A. Championship. The Midgits of 1947 were the first team east of Toronto to challenge the South-Western teams. The Legionaire Pee-Wees are out to be the first to bring the Championship to Madoc.

Ernie Carswell is attempting to arouse forty Madoc and District fans to fill one of Franklin Smith's road buses to go to Elora on Saturday. The bus will remain in Elora and return on Sunday afternoon, after the second game. The price per seat will be six dollars and Ernie will have to know by Thursday night. Remember! The bus will be staying overnight.

PAST HOCKEY GLORIES

Last week I finished the Pee-Wee column with a series of questions dealing with past hockey glories in Minor Hockey in Madoc. It was in the spring of 1947 that Manager Ken West and Coaches Kel Kincaid and Mel Borland led the Madoc Midget Blue Bombers into the Ontario Finals against Elmira. With hockey talent such as Weener Brown, Glen Nickle, Ernie Carswell, Bob Borland, Ray Smith, Doug Tufts, "Pounce" Grey, Ernie Trumble, Willis Forestell, Carl Johnston and Ron Smith, the local Midgits swept aside Stirling and Tweed in local league play and hit the road to take on the rest of Ontario for the Midget "C" Championship. Playing on natural ice and warming feet on box stoves, the local boys opened their league schedule on January 21st and, after playing a home and home series with Tweed and Stirling, the Blue Bombers opened their play-off schedule shortly after February 6th. Madoc's first opponents were a team from Port Perry, which they revenge a loss from the year before, to the tune of 11-3 and 10-1. Meanwhile, Stirling eliminated Ajax and met Madoc in the next round. This hard-fought series ended with Madoc winning 9-3 and 5-1. On to the Keswick - Madoc series and it was for the first time that the Madoc squad met defeat. After defeating Keswick 6-2 in Madoc, the local squad dropped a 3-2 decision in Sutton, but won the round, 8-5. Next in view was the Sundridge semi-finals. The Blue Bombers made their way to Sundridge by train via Belleville and Toronto. They beat Sundridge 6-4 in Sundridge and returned a week later to down the strong Sundridge team 7-4 in Madoc, to win the round 13-8. Finally, the finals against Elmira. It was the first time that a team from Eastern Ontario challenged a team from west of Toronto for an Ontario Championship! In Madoc the Blue Bombers were held to a 6-6 tie and lost a close game to Elmira 5-3 in Waterloo.

Many good stories can be told by the management and team players about each series. Gate receipts for the first Blue Bomber game was $245. The play-off game with Sundridge netted $269.00. In interviewing some of the players, the Sundridge - Madoc series sticks in their minds more than any series. The early morning practices (5:00 a.m.) because of the natural ice and the warm weather. They laugh about the old air force ambulance they used to pick up the players for practices. Ask Ernie about the "bathtub" incident or Kel, Newt and Ken about many of the hilarious

Fishing Huts Must Be Off Ice To-Day

Officially spring is slightly more than a week old, but to look at the snow piled up, no one would ever believe it. Lakes are breaking up, inlets and outlets are dangerous, due to undercutting (as we call it) of ice water. Water is being drawn down on controlled lakes, so travel requires caution.

Snow in the bush varies from 28 inches in the Napanee Division to 35 to 36 inches in Bancroft and Dacre, with 32 inches in this district. Bancroft Division lakes have as much as 18 inches of slush, 8 inches of clear ice and 10 inches of snow ice.

In Napanee Division there are many open areas in the lakes, some slush and air holes in various places. Mazinaw Lake, has 7 inches top ice, 1 inch water, and 14 inches of clear ice, but open at inlets and outlets.

WARNING - the ice may go out overnight at this time of year, "Black Spot, go not".

Today is the deadline for fishing huts as they must be off the lakes by March 31st.

Madoc Youths Injured In Weekend Accidents

Two young Madoc area brothers, Dennis Young, 18 and Phillip, 20, are in Belleville General Hospital with severe facial lacerations as the result of a head on two-car crash Sunday afternoon on the Quin-Mo-Lac road south of Moira Lake.

Provincial police said the two brothers were in separate cars driven by Allan Joseph Rutan, 31, 20 Hillcrest Street, Belleville, and Donald Purchase, 34 of Pictou. The drivers were treated at Belleville hospital and released.

Both cars were extensively damaged in the accident which took place shortly before six o'clock one mile east of Highway 62.

Another weekend two-car smash this one at the intersection of Highways 62 and 14 at Foxboro, sent a Toronto man to hospital with dislocated shoulder, knee injuries and concussion on Saturday afternoon.

Provincial police said Cecil Wilkins, 72, was driving on Highway 14 when his car was in collision with that driven by Anita Gail Robinson, 38, Belleville Hospital X-ray technician, who was southbound on Highway 62.

Mr. Wilkin's wife, Irene was treated in emergency and released, while Miss Robinson escaped injury.

Blind Man Runs Successful Rabbitry

One of the most amazing rabbitries in Canada is at Eldorado, run by a totally blind man, Mr. Garnet Budd. His neat, efficient, successful ranch is a tribute to determination. For paperwork and travelling to meetings, Garn depends on his pretty wife, Joyce; for protection of the ranch, he depends on his knowledgeable German Shepherd dog, Tawny, who understands the money value of rabbits. A marvellous memory, a well-organized operation, very skilled fingers, and dedication to his animals and the rabbit industry in general, are the other ingredients to Garn's success.

Garn operates the ranch entirely on his own while his wife works in Toronto, and is home only on weekends. At this time, she looks in on any new arrivals and checks on the rabbits in general. She keeps a clip on the side of every feeder. By the position of the clip, or the type of clip, Garn knows just how many rabbits are in the cage, and whether the doe is due to be bred or due to kindle.

Describing the ranch operated by her husband, Joyce Budd offers many clues for beginner ranchers, enabling them to avoid pitfalls and move more rapidly to successful operation.

The main building on the ranch is 36' x 95', and houses 300 to 400 working does, 35 bucks, and up to 2,000 young. Behind the modest entrance (photo 1) lies a world of efficient rabbit husbandry.

Inside the main building are six rows (2) of three-tier cages. Every cage is uniformly fitted with feeders, enabling Garn to feed with minimum effort and time.

Watering is automatic, with all lines quickly and easily controlled. Two holding and control tanks (3) help regulate the water flow. Note the automatic water blender in (4). This is something which only a few rabbitries are likely to have. Joyce Budd explains:

"As we are on a very deep drilled well, the water is very cold. In the winter months, we found that as soon as we raised the temperature of the drinking water the rabbits were much more active — bucks more willing to work, and does, thinking spring was around the corner, more receptive. Also note dripping pipe up to blender and then no sweating of pipes after the blender. This helps keep humidity down during summer".

There's no fooling in Budd's rabbitry! When visitors come they are reminded (5) just where they are — in a Maternity Ward, and act accordingly. Garn has found that on weekends, when there are a number of visitors to the ranch, the rabbits' feed consumption drops about a third. This is very significant, and novice ranchers should take note of it.

By checking each feeder each day, Garn (6) can be sure if yesterday's feed has been eaten before adding more. If there is feed left, Garn goes back after feeding to find out why.

Both Joyce and Garn believe that a well-trained watch dog is a must around any professional rabbitry.

Their large shepherd goes into the rabbitry when Garn is there. Tawny will not chase the rabbits, and when a bunny is loose on the floor, she makes worried little sounds which alerts Garn to the fact that a rabbit is out.

Joyce and Garn are working on a commercial hybrid rabbit, which, if they have success, will be called "Canadianna White Hybrid". If any other Canadian commercial breeders are interested in this project, Joyce and Garn invite their cooperation.

Budd's Rabbitry is on Hwy. 62 just three miles north of Eldorado.

JULIUS DIDN'T ENJOY MARCH IDES EITHER

By BILL SMILEY

One last boot in the behind for March, and then let us leave it and the whole perishing winter that has embattled this land, this year, and move on to higher thoughts.

March is known for very little, beyond giving everyone the last, and worst bout of flu for the year.

However, we'll give it its due. One of its oldest associations is with Julius Caesar. Wealthy, dictator of Rome, outstanding general, and well on his way to becoming the first emperor of the mighty Roman Empire, he was a victim of March.

Big Julie was taking part in a procession during the Feast of Lupercal, which is neither here nor there. As the parade wound its way to wherever it was going, through the terrible traffic of Rome, which is still terrible, a seer (this is usually a chap who can't see, except into the future) stepped in front of Caesar's chariot. This is a custom, I understand, that is faithfully followed by pedestrians in Rome to this day.

Anyway, the old nut croaked in sepulchral tones, "Beware the Ides of March". Now, in those days, the Ides of March meant the fifteenth of March. This was just a few days away. And when a seer tells you to beware, you'd better be wary. Those seers don't mean you're going to wake up on the given day with a hangover, or even worse, a hang-nail.

Unfortunately, Julius was a bit deaf in one ear and also had his annual March cold and was coughing so loudly he couldn't have heard the last trumpet. So he missed the message.

You guessed it. Right on the nose, on the Ides of March, he was filled full of cold steel. Not by student activists, or black militants, but by trusted, nay, beloved fellow-members of the Roman Senate.

It should, perhaps, be pointed out that the Roman Senate differed in some respects from the Canadian Senate. In those days, senators were not just old politicians put out to pasture, or party bag-men. Some of them were under forty, and they all knew how to handle a shiv.

That sort of thing just couldn't happen in the Canadian Senate. The worst that could occur would be tripping over a cane, or being run over by a wheel-chair, or bludgeoned to death by a speech.

However, that is all, as the saying goes, ancient history. The only lesson to be learned from it is that when you hear a seer, don't sneer. Especially in March, Ides of.

Another event for which March is reasonably well known is St. Patrick's Day, the 17th. Perhaps "reasonably" is not the word here, since it is a celebration of one of the patron saints of Ireland (the other is King Billy), and who ever met a reasonable Irishman?

I'm almost pure Irish, on both sides. But let them keep their precious saints, both Patrick and Billy, in Ireland, where the bog-trotters can bash each others' brains in, their favourite sport.

Must say, it makes my blood run a bit cold, though, when some Canadian with eight drops of Irish blood in him decks out in a green tie and a shamrock and gets into that "Top o' the mornin'" routine. And it makes me want to throw up, every St. Pat's Day, when a Jewish comedian starts tossing around "Begorrahs" or an Italian tenor, all misty-eyed, warbles, "When Irish eyes are smiling."

It's as incongruous as a Canadian seventh-generation United Empire Loyalist making a big fuss about St. Wladislaw's Day, or Channukah, or Buddha's birthday. Each to his own, and vive la difference.

See how the month of March gets me worked up? Other months rhyme with something pleasant. June with moon and swoon. July with fly — to Europe or somewhere. September with remember. But March goes with such delightful connotations as starch and arch (as in fallen).

The only other thing for which March is noted is the vernal equinox, the 21st, the first day of spring ha ha. Vernal suggests green. Take a look out. Snow white or mud brown. Equinox is from the Latin: equus — horse; nox — night. Spells nightmare. March, right?

Adieu, farewell, auf wiedersehn and aux revoir, March. May you rot in July.

During the week of March 19th, 1973, to March 26th, 1971, officers of Madoc Detachment, Ontario Provincial Police investigated nine motor vehicle accidents; all of a property damage nature.

There were 41 charges laid under the Criminal Code of Canada, Highway Traffic Act, and Liquor Control Act. There were 18 warnings issued.

There was one request for prisoner escort, four requests for assistance, with six reports of thefts and two reports of breaking and entering. There were 43 other general occurrences.

Thirty hours were spent in Criminal Court, with Judge R. C. Jackson registering 24 convictions.

DRIVERS! Collision statistics prove that many traffic deaths and injuries are the result of inattention on the part of the drivers concerned. The Ontario Provincial Police urges all drivers to watch out for moments of inattention while driving.

Develop the habit of always giving driving the full attention it requires for maximum safety.

Looking Back...

50 YEARS AGO

March 24th, 1921

O'Hara's Millinery Department has been the scene of bustling activity this week. Hats are all shapes, sizes, styles and colours. The small hats are a little more popular than last season, and fashion has decreed that streamers of ribbon, short or long, will find some position on them. The vogue of the large veil is back.

A boy's composition on girls: Girls are the only things that have their own way every time. Girls are of several thousand kinds, and some times one girl can be like several thousand other girls if she wants to do anything. Girls are alike one way. They are all like cats. If you rub 'em the right way of the hair they'll purr and look sweet at you, but if you rub 'em the wrong way or step on their tails, they'll claw you. So long as you let a girl have her own way she's nice and sweet, but just cross her and she will spit at you worse than a cat. Girls are also like mules. If a girl don't want to believe anything, you can't make her. If she knows it's so, she won't say so. This is all I know about girls, and father says the less I know about them the better off I am.

On the evening of March 8th, a very pleasant gathering was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Diamond, Cooper. In spite of the unfavorable weather and bad roads a large number were present to spend a social evening and wish Mr. and Mrs. Diamond Godspeed before leaving the neighbourhood, where they have resided for so many years. During the evening, Mrs. W. T. Allen read an address and Mrs. W. J. Rollins presented Mr. and Mrs. Diamond with a handsome tea service and baby Evelyn with a silver cup.

The neighbourhood at Scotch Settlement was greatly shocked on Monday when the sad news of the death of Mr. Nathan Kilpatrick reached them. Death was very sudden, due to a tree striking his head when he was felling it.

Miss Annie Lancaster of Crookston passed away on Sunday morning, March 6th. Deceased had been ill for some time. She was a very faithful worker in the church and will be greatly missed.

"BEWARE OF DOGS"

C.R. Lenk, M.D., D.P.H., C.R.C.P. (C), Medical Officer of Health, Hastings and Prince Edward Counties Health Unit, issued a notice to County residents early this week that he and the Veterinarian of the Health of Animals Division, Government of Canada, are very much concerned with continuous re-occurrence of dog-bites in this District.

Recently five people have been bitten by dogs and one of these dogs was definitely found to suffer from Rabies. Four people are at present being given anti-rabies injections. Some of the patients reside in Hastings and some in Prince Edward County.

The public is warned again rigidly to adhere to the regulations and By-Laws that forbid the dogs to run loose unattended.

Prosecution of the owner can be expected in every case of dog-bite.

ALL DIRECTORS ARE REQUESTED TO ATTEND

Clarence Farrow, President.

Francis Tobin,
Secretary.

The Canadian Federation of University Women of Belleville and District together with the Picton Club had as their guest speaker Mrs. L. W. Thompson, the Provincial Director for Eastern Ontario. Her duties are to act as liaison between clubs, to direct regional conferences, and to set up new clubs. Mrs. Thompson gave a complete outline of the C.F.U.W. organization in Canada. There are 132 local clubs and 5 alumnae associations. Belleville has one of the largest clubs. The Canadian membership is 11,000. There are 14 regions, each with a Provincial Director holding office for three years. The regional conference is held in the first year of a triennium. This year it will be in Brockville on October 23rd. The theme is "Leisure - Pain or Pleasure". Any member may be eligible to go to a council meeting, which meets in the second year. There is one vote from each club - the president or her representative. The general meeting or triennial conference at which each executive member counts as one vote is held in the third year. There is one vote for each 25 members in a club. If only one member goes, then she holds all the votes for her club. In 1973, the triennial conference will be in Ottawa.

The executive committee consists of four vice presidents, (one each for East, West, Ontario and Quebec), President, Recording Secretary, Membership Secretary, Treasurer and an assistant Treasurer. Nominations are made by mail and usually are taken from Provincial Directors. There are 13 standing committees, some of which are - finance, education, international relations, libraries and creative arts, publications, resolutions and special committees - constitution, nominating, and a parliamentary.

Mrs. Thompson described how our fees were spent. The estimated income for 1970-71 is $3,800 from fees. Of our three dollar membership, 60 cents goes to IFUW. The balance is used for salaries, fellowships, two foundations, (Alice E. Wilson, Golden Jubilee Fund), office travelling, publication of Chronicle, newsletters, council meetings and investment account to support travelling expenses of the executive.

Previous to the speaker, a short business meeting was held. The regional conference in Brockville was announced as well as the conference in Montreal on April 30. An IFUW conference is being held in Philadelphia in August. A resolution is being put forward at this conference to make pollution a world wide priority and have joint action on borders, i.e., waters of United States and Canada. During coffee break, many questions were answered by Mrs. Thompson on some aspects of C.F.U.W.

A 'freeload' for students

OTTAWA — In case you missed it, the Government brought down a plan to give Canadian kids something to do this summer ... so the Administration claims.

We waited for that program for a long time, and when it finally came out in mid-March, it was some disappointment.

The programs offered through the departments of Manpower, Defence, and Health weren't bad — the one from Health showed some imagination, but the other two were largely expanded versions of previous governmental efforts.

The reason for the big delay in announcing the Government summer student program was a hold-up in the Secretary of State's department, and that section of the program was the most disappointing of all.

After detailing how the bulk of the youngsters hunting jobs this summer would be looked after by private industry, the Government went on to outline plans for making summer a travel time for the kids who couldn't find jobs, or didn't want to.

We're going to have 50 kiosks in Canada — so the kids will have safe hitch-hiking stops on their travels. And we'll have hostels that provide beds for the summer wanderers, too.

In the Press Gallery, one of the standard gags was a burling eagerness for the pot-selling concessions at the kiosks.

From the plan they produced, it must be obvious that the people in Secretary of State Gerard Pelletier's office don't have the faintest conception of what the youth of this country wants.

The summer potential for exciting students to the challenge of Canada is enormous.

Ah, but the Government in its wisdom leaves the designing of such programs to local organizations ... and gives the local organization all of a month to make plans.

And that after the Secretary of State's office held up the co-ordinated youth program for several months.

To give some idea of the thinking, consider these ideas that were discarded.

One proposal suggested that the hostels, which would be needed for traveling youngsters should be built by the youngsters themselves. The students would work on construction with militia field engineer squadrons, and thus they would have pride in the hostels, which would be useful for years, and likely unplugged by vandals.

Yep, that one was shot down — on the grounds of the unattractiveness of the military connection, I understand.

Then there was a program to put youngsters into the Arctic on either construction or pollution clean-up projects. That one bit the dust because the Government said there wasn't anything for students to do up there.

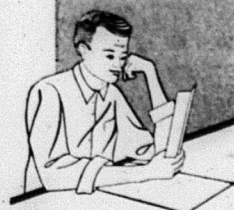

Guess those 500 students who hitch-hiked up the highway to Hay River and worked on the Mackenzie River barges last summer didn't know there wasn't anything for them to do in the North.

The Secretary of State's office has underestimated the young people of Canada, and thus can be blamed for the country's summer employment problem, among students.

The kids don't want hand-outs and they don't respect an establishment that is condescending. Neither, of course, do they want to be forced into drudgery.

What they do want is respect as people and a voice in how this country will be shaped. This year's Government summer employment program certainly misses the boat.

1. My wife and I have a joint bank account. The payments into the bank account are made by me as my wife has no private income of her own. The T5 slips are made out in our joint names. Should I still report the interest income on my tax return, including it with my income?

A. All of the bank interest must be reported as your income since your wife's share of the money on deposit came from you.

2. Q. I changed jobs last year and received a lump sum payment from my previous employer's pension plan. I know this money can be taxed at a reduced rate but I do not know how to calculate this rate of tax. What should I do?

A. When filing your return you should attach a note to your return requesting that the Department apply the provisions of Section 36 of the Income Tax Act to your lump sum payment. Also attach the T4A slip on which that payment is reported.

Complete your return as far as the "Taxable Income" figure but do not include the lump sum payment in your income.

Do not make any calculation, but enter on the line "Total Tax deducted per T4 and T4A slips", the total amount of your tax deductions including the amount deducted from the lump sum payment as shown on the T4A slip.

3. Q. I purchased bonds in my son's name. For tax purposes is the interest on the bonds his income? Or is it my income and if so must I report it on my return?

A. Any interest income from the bonds should be reported as your income as long as your son is under 19 years of age.

4. Q. I pay the family allowance cheques my wife receives into a bank account which is in the names of our two children. Do I include on my tax form, as part of my income, the interest that is earned on this bank account?

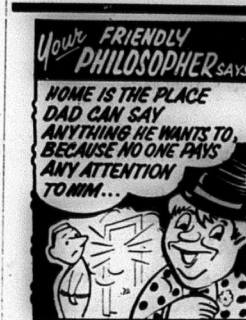

A. No. Interest on this bank account should not be included in your income if the family allowance cheques are all that is deposited.

5. Q. I filed my income tax return two weeks ago but yesterday I received another T4 slip I had forgotten about. What should I do?

A. Notify your District Office in writing and attach a copy of the T4 slip. Above all, do not file another return for this late T4 slip or for any other information slip you have received since filing your return.

6. Q. My wife took a part-time job last year for the first time since our marriage. She earned over $3,000. Do I have to include her income with mine or does she have to file a separate return for her income?

A. Since your wife will have a taxable income she must file a separate return. Because her income was more than $1,250 you will not be able to claim married exemption on your return.

POSTAL CODE THIS WEEK

Canadians will get their first close look at the postal CODE this April 1st, starting in Ottawa.

The CODE will be a permanent part of every Canadian address by early 1974. It will be introduced in Manitoba in the fall of this year, followed by Saskatchewan in the Spring of 1972, the Atlantic provinces in the fall, Alberta at the end of that year, British Columbia, the Yukon and the Northwest Territories in the Spring of 1973, and Quebec and the rest of Ontario early in 1974.

The CODE is alpha-numeric -- composed of both letters and numbers -- and always takes the form of ANA NAN, where "A" represents a letter of the alphabet and "N" a number from 0 to 9. There is a space between the first three and the last three characters.

The first three characters are called the Area Designators:

- in urban areas, this defines an area of about 25 letter carrier routes -- about 120 city blocks in a business section.

- in rural areas, this denotes an area in which there are fewer than 200 small post offices.

- the first character, always a letter, represents an entire province, or part of a province, as follows: A, Newfoundland; B, Nova Scotia; C, Prince Edward Island; E, New Brunswick; G, H, J, Quebec; K, L, M, N, P, Ontario; R, Manitoba; S, Saskatchewan; T, Alberta; V, British Columbia; X, Northwest Territories; Y, Yukon.

- in urban areas, the second and third characters, in combination, divide this large area into parts of a city.

- in rural areas, the second and third characters divide the area into small groups of post offices.

- a zero in the second position indicates a rural area; the numbers 1 to 9 in this position specify an urban area.

The last three characters are called the Local Designator:

- in urban areas, this specifies a very small section of the city -- one side of a city block, an apartment building, an office building, a large business firm, or a form of delivery from a post office; rural route, general delivery, post office box, etc.
- in rural areas, this specifies a specific (non-letter carrier) post office.

The CODE should always be shown by itself as the last line of the address:

for example:

Mr. Joe Smith,
Apt. No. 5
150 Nepean St.
OTTAWA Ontario
K2P 0B6

- if this is impossible, because of addressing machine limitations, it can be shown after the city and the province, providing it is separated from whatever precedes it by two spaces.

People with post office boxes will be associated CODES in the same way as people with street addresses. Generally, one CODE will cover a group of post office boxes, although some box numbers will have their own CODES if they receive a sufficient volume of mail.

Firms mailing large quantities of mail, who presort their mail according to Area Designators, may qualify for reduced rates, much like those in effect for third class matter.

The CODE will also benefit people doing market research, census analyses, data gathering, etc. It can be used to determine where business is heavy and where it is light. Quite simply, it divides the country up into nice tidy areas which make it a boon to survey takers and the like.

By EARL MACKAY,
County Safety Inspector

It has been said that you can't teach an old dog new tricks. Well that may be so, but human beings can learn at any age. While we learn faster when we're young our ability to learn decreases only slightly as we get older. You're never too old to learn about accident prevention and benefit from that learning. So, to keep active, keep your mind on action and look for the hazards. Sometimes you read in a newspaper account of an accident, that the car "went out of control".

But, was it the car that went out of control? Not really, because the car just does what the driver tells it to do within the natural laws of gravity and friction. So, actually it was the driver who went out of control by not taking into account the curve, the wet road, and speeds too fast for these conditions. It was just steel, rubber and vinyl, that you compete with, when you take your car on the road. It's people, who eat, sleep, laugh and cry just like you, and an accident can end all that. So be nice to people. Drive your car the way you'd like the other person to drive his or hers. You know, courtesy is contagious, so maybe he'll catch on.

The time is fast approaching when farmers will be starting their spring rush to get the land ready for seeding. Many farmers feel that the guards over moving shafts, gears, chains and belts on farm machines get in the way and slow them down. Remember that artificial hands and arms will do the same thing. Perhaps the biggest single factor in reducing accidents is to recognize the hazards. And, the hazards on our farms are many. Therefore, we must train ourselves to recognize the hazards and eliminate them. So the farmer and the farmer's wife who are hazard conscious are also safety conscious.

There are many (laws) Acts and Regulations which, in part or in whole, are designed to protect our society. In this fast changing world we live in, new laws are being passed and the old ones changed. If you are one of those persons who feel we already have too many laws, I would like to suggest that only we as people, in our actions and attitude toward safety, can prevent more legislation in this regard.

For the people engaged in safety, the results are entirely different than that of most other lines of work. The man on the farm can see the grass or stubble gradually disappearing when he plows the field. The industrial workers can see the product moving. The construction worker can see the building, bridge, highway, etc. on its way to completion. The lumberman can see the lumber stacking up and the miner sees the ore moving out. For those persons engaged in safety, they can only hope that fatal and disabling accidents will decrease with education and enforcement.

Two Englishmen were talking in the pub about the mini skirt and traffic safety. One suggested that for night time the girls should wear red fluorescent stockings then there should be no danger of being hit while crossing the street. The other agreed that it was a fine idea, but, what happens to the drivers if they all stay on the sidewalk.

May I suggest, you think, talk, drive and work safely, the life you save may be your own.

Jarry Park 'snowball' time

The National Hockey League regular season winds up this weekend — one day before the major league baseball season gets underway.

By the time the Stanley Cup has been officially presented to Boston, the baseball year will be one-quarter over. And, of course, by that date football teams will be announcing only a few days left to opening practice.

The mixed-up sports schedule, one of the drawbacks to television dollars, is hardest on the true sports fan in Montreal.

Only in the country's largest city can a fan see baseball in the afternoon and a Stanley Cup playoff at night (providing Canadiens last the first week). Six American cities are like Montreal, hosts to both hockey playoffs and baseball league games.

But Montreal is a special case. Anyone who has visited the city in April knows how unpredictable the weather can be. In a rare moment of feeling for the fans, the management of Montreal Expos agreed to open on the road (April 6 in New York) and delay the home opener a week to April 13 against the same Mets. And in another show of understanding, the first six home dates are scheduled for the afternoon.

The thought of sitting in 30-degree weather at night is designed to keep even the enthusiastic Montrealer at home.

"When we played here in the International League, it was cold early in the season," recalled general manager John McHale. He was then a promising first baseman with Buffalo Bisons and the players didn't mind the cold spring days — the games were late afternoon affairs and the evenings were free in Montreal. And anyone who is young prefers a free night to a free afternoon in Montreal.

Last year, the Expos opened at home April 6 and packed 30,124 into Jarry Park, no mean feat since the total seating capacity with a shoehorn is 28,456. Two weeks later, they tried a night game and players were happy to see the snow fall. It gave management an excuse for a postponement.

With the record snowfall of this past winter, the Expos must continue to rate as the organization that does everything right. If the snow had hit one year earlier, the team would never have made their opening date. If it had happened two years earlier, the stadium would never have been ready on time.

As it is, the ground crew will have a rough job putting the field in shape for the April 13th start.

While general manager McHale can point with pride to daylight starts in April, he needs to be reminded that the cold weather he complained of as a player was in May. The International League season never moved north to Toronto and Montreal until May — but, of course, television wasn't a major factor then and hockey ended in winter, baseball in summer, and football in the fall.

As long as the citizens of Montreal continue to pack Jarry Park, regardless of the weather, the management will be under no pressure to delay the season.

And as long as the crowds turn out despite the poor showing of the team, Montreal will continue to be baseball's prize franchise.

Milwaukee once was held in the same high esteem. Then the Braves made the mistake of dominating the National League. Once they started to lose, the fans remained at home.

"We have a number of programs designed to keep the Expos a Montreal team in every way," McHale said. "We will never lose sight of that."

If anyone knows the danger of apathy and absentee ownership, it is McHale. He was president of Milwaukee when the team was forced to move to Atlanta by dwindling gates.

TOWNSHIP OF HUNTINGDON FINANCIAL STATEMENTS AT DECEMBER 31, 1970

To the Members of Council, Inhabitants and Ratepayers of the Corporation of the Township of Huntingdon.

We have examined the 1970 financial statements of the Corporation of the Township of Huntingdon. Our examination included a general review of the accounting procedures and such tests of accounting records and other supporting evidence as we considered necessary in the circumstances.

In our opinion these financial statements present fairly the financial position of the Corporation of the Township of Huntingdon and the results of its operations for the year then ended, in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted for Ontario municipalities applied on a basis consistent with that of the preceding year.

Mothers must get out!

DEAR DORIS:

"What a child needs most is a lively, lovable mother. If his mother has enough energy to be enthusiastic, enough inner vigor to give off some semblance of a feeling of well-being, a youngster can get along without a lot of other things."

—Dr. Marion Hilliard, famous Canadian gynecologist
Every mother owes it to her children, as well as to herself, to get out of the house once or twice a week to take part in some community activity, or indulge in a hobby or sport which she enjoys.

Not only is it a remedy for fatigue. It will make her into a contented, relaxed mother, as well as a well-balanced human being.

DEAR DORIS:

I saw a television picture about a girl who had beaten her one-and-a-half-year-old daughter. It made me wonder whether that might be me in the future. On several occasions I've had to try very hard to keep myself from hurting my little three-month-old boy.

I love my baby and my husband more than anything in this world. But sometimes I nearly lose control of myself. I can't afford a psychiatrist, but I need counselling from somebody.

Ashamed

DEAR ASHAMED:

When I was practising social work in a psychiatric hospital I had a patient, a woman 65, who had an almost overwhelming desire to kill her children. She had had this urge all her married life, but as a younger, stronger woman she had succeeded in submerging it.

Psychiatric counselling brought out the fact that she had been prevented from marrying the man she loved because of his religion. She later married, but when children came they represented to her, unconsciously and unreasonably, the barrier to her uniting with her own true love.

A psychiatrist could help you, too. You would find out what suppressed anxiety or resentment is pushing you to take it out on your own baby. Please afford this help, and write me again to report progress.

DEAR DORIS:

I am enclosing 10 cents and stamped envelope for the humorous English poem, "Albert and the Lion." We always enjoyed hearing this over radio and you mentioned having it. My husband's name is Albert and he left our Albert in the Zoo. I lived near the Regent's Park Zoo (Toronto) a number of years. My husband has been in hospital with a broken hipbone nine months, but is expected home any day now.

Best Wishes

DEAR BEST:

Hope your special Albert comes back from his particular trip to the lions without being gobbled up! Tell him many Happy Returns from me.

DEAR DORIS:

Would you be kind enough to send me a list of what a 16-year-old's wardrobe should be for school for next fall?

Trying To Get With It

DEAR TRYING:

A minimum would be three school outfits: a school dress, a jumper suit with some exchange, and a two-piece suit with blouse and sweater. Make the exchanges in colors to tie in. A brown skirt might have a brown top, a yellow blouse, a green or gold sweater. Stockings — or panti-hose — six pairs, with some warm ones for winter. Two pairs of flat heels; black patent slippers. If she will be living in a school, one or two pairs of slacks with tops or a jacket help make studying a relaxed activity.

At least one dinner dress, a dress-up party gown. A fall coat; a winter coat; suitable footwear for snow. Three changes of lingerie.

All these are minimums. A lot depends on how tight the budget is.

Travelling north for the third game of the best-of-seven final series, which was previously tied one game each, the Madoc Intermediates were downed 7-5 in an overtime period after a hard-fought battle against the Bancroft squad last Wednesday night.

Both goalies played a first-period shut-out, during which fans saw some excellent saves on goal and very good team-work on the whole. Eleven penalties were handed out to the two teams during the period, which somewhat accounts for the no-goal report.

Bancroft's No. 15, Norm Easto, scored the first goal of the game after six minutes of play in the second period, but Bob Bartsch shot in a quick reply, unassisted, eleven seconds later. David Neuman, No. 3 for Bancroft, tallied at the 7:19 mark, only to see Dick Chapman, assisted by R. Francis and T. McGregor, whip one in, just 39 seconds after, thus ending the scoring for the period.

Beginning the third period with a 2-2 tie, Bancroft's Neuman scored two goals by the 7:20 mark, putting his team in the lead, 4-2. Jerry Chapman scored an unassisted goal at the 16:17 mark and less than a minute later, Terry McGregor, assisted by Dick Chapman, brought the score back up to a tie, while playing a man short, L. Acorn being in the penalty box. The remaining three minutes of play saw some excellent checking. One penalty was handed out to a Madoc Player, H. Bailey, at the 20:00 minute mark, just as the buzzer marked the end of the period.

Herb Casselman took advantage of the locals' penalty at the opening of the overtime period, whipping one in past goalie Blane Reynolds at the one-minute mark. Norm Easto gave Bancroft a one-goal lead at the 4:55 minute mark. When No. 7, Harold Maloney, of Bancroft, received a two-minute tripping penalty at the 6:08 mark, the tired Madoc squad finally got the break they needed. Bob Bartsch scored at the 7:13 mark, assisted by R. Francis and J. Chapman. After a nice rest in the penalty box, Maloney came back out on the ice and compensated his penalty by scoring the final goal of the game at the 9:44 mark, giving Bancroft a 7-5 lead and putting them ahead in the series, two games to one.

During warm-up time for the game here last Friday night, one player proved that the glass windows at the north end of the arena can be broken. It took one terrific slap shot, but the pane of glass shattered into thousands of fragments. After a slight delay, repairs were made and the game got underway about 15 minutes later than the scheduled time.

After eighteen seconds on the ice, Terry Chapman, assisted by Jerry and Dick Chapman, opened the scoring of the game. Then the local boys proceeded to walk all over the Bancroft squad. B. Bartsch added another at the 3:04 mark, assisted by Terry Chapman. After twelve minutes of exciting play, Madoc's Don Donaldson, assisted by J. Chapman, whipped in a third one. Just over a minute later, Jerry Chapman, assisted by B. Bartsch, scored again, and near the close of the period, at the 18:38 mark, T. Chapman, assisted by J. Chapman, scored the final goal of the period, giving the Madoc team a 5-0 lead. Penalties in this stanza — Madoc 2, Bancroft, 1.

The second period saw Jerry Chapman, assisted by Gord Donaldson, tally at the 34-second mark, followed by another by Don Donaldson, through the assistance of Harold Bailey, at the 1:48 mark, bringing Madoc to a 7-0 lead. Bancroft's No.

8, Bill McCaw, scored their first goal of the game at the 2:57 mark, but Jerry Chapman cancelled that at the 8:00 minute mark, assisted by T. Chapman and B. Bartsch. A total of nine penalties were served during the period, four of which were by Madoc.

For the third period, Bancroft players pulled up their socks and went to work, but too late to merit much value on the scoreboard. At the 7:52 mark, No. 18, Steve Tripp, broke through the local's strong defensive and whipped one in, followed three minutes later by another, by Bill McCaw, No. 8. They scored three additional goals by the 18:54 mark and fans became very noisy. Terry Chapman, assisted by Jerry Chapman, tallied the final goal of the game at the 19:06 mark, leaving Madoc a 9-6 victory.

Special mention should be made of Jerry Chapman, who scored three of these goals and assisted on four others, and of Terry Chapman, who scored three and assisted on two. Congratulations, boys, for a well-played game!

Back in Bancroft on Sunday afternoon, the home team broke the two-game tie of the series, defeating the handicapped Madoc squad, 8-3. Playing in the absence of Bob Bartsch and Don and Gord Donaldson, who had all been injured in Friday night's game, the local boys deserve a great deal of credit for their excellent team effort. It was even more disappointing to see goalie Blane Reynolds injured in the arm during warm-up, but spare goalie, Dale Benson, made a series of heroic saves in the first and second periods. Blane was able to return to the net for the third stanza.

The opening period saw Bancroft's Norm Easto score the first goal of the game at the 6:42 mark. Madoc then lost a player for a penalty count, but after his return to the ice, Bob Chapman tallied, assisted by Dick Chapman, at the 14:50 mark. Ralph Francis gave Madoc a 2-1 lead at the 16:03 mark. Losing two more players to the penalty box, the Madoc boys concentrated on defensive work for the remainder of the period and no more goals were scored, although there were many shots on goal by both teams.

In the second stanza, the Bancroft squad added four goals to their score, ending the period with a 5-2 lead. A few minor disagreements among the players caused each team to serve four penalties during this period. Getting a front-seat view, these boys can clearly see what happens to their short-handed team-mates while they're sitting in that penalty box. And it certainly isn't good — they need ALL their men.

Bill McCaw added another goal to Bancroft's score at the 1:15 minute mark in the final period, but Terry McGregor answered at the 10:09 mark, assisted by Ralph Francis, bringing the score to 6-3 in favour of the opponents. This brought about considerable excitement among the spectators and the players really went to work. At the 14:15 mark, Neuman tallied for Bancroft. Penalties were being handed out continuously, and the Madoc boys seemed to get the rough end of the deal. They were forced into some very tiring end to end rushes and some rather difficult saves. A number of injuries to local players were suffered during the game. The most seriously injured was Wayne Bailey, who received a stick in the face and was sent to Bancroft Hospital. Seeing a team-mate carried off on a stretcher makes for a very down-hearted team and even the fans lost the spirit. (Wayne was released from hospital later that evening, and he is reported to be improving.) However, after a short delay in the game, Bancroft's Gary Wright scored the final goal, with less than a minute remaining.

Even though they lost that game, our boys deserve a great deal of credit for their excellent work, considering what they are obviously up against, according to the number of players they have lost through injuries in this series.

Bancroft now leads the series three games to two and, hoping Madoc can round up enough uninjured players, they will be giving the northerners very strong opposition for the fifth game of the series here in Madoc at 8:30 p.m. Your vocal support is needed. This could be the final game — come out and see that it isn't!

The seventh game, if necessary, will be played in Bancroft sometime this weekend. Listen to the sport report on C.J.B.Q. Radio for date and time.

LEGIONAIRE PEE-WEES

I've probably missed many others, like Geoff Grinrod (Secretary-Treasurer) and Jack Hatch, who probably did much to help the Blue Bombers to reach the finals and if I have, I apologize for excluding you. I hope I have revived a few good, exciting memories.

The 1971 Pee-Wees have much in common with the Blue Bombers. They also have eliminated Tweed and Stirling. They defeated Powassan (north of Sundridge) and will meet Elora, which is not too far from Elmira. We also have a Forestell, Johnston, Nickle and Carswell on the team. If our fighting spirit continues, Madoc will lay claim to the O.M.H.A. Championship that eluded the Madoc Midget Blue Bombers of 1947.
